Worse Things Than Rats

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE cities of this country are beginning to take interest in their own ancient dates. New York this week celebrates the hundredth anniversary of Fifth avenue's existence as a real street. It was a cowpath one hundred years ago, and a rocky one.

Only eighty-five years ago Christopher Mildeberger leaned over the picket fence of his farm, that would be now at the corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street.

WE do things quickly in America, building up and tearing down. In 1845, at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street, was completed the great Croton reservoir, introducing running water into any New York house that cared to have it.

The reservoir is gone, and in its place stands the great Public Library, where any citizen can obtain knowledge without money and without price.

THIRTY years ago this writer persuaded Joseph Pulitzer to drive up Fifth avenue, along the east side of Central Park, saying to him, "buy land here, Uncle Joe, and you'll own what is to be the most valuable private residence property in the world."

"No," said Joseph Pulitzer, "believe me, Brisbane, nobody will come up here to live and drive over these cobble stones."

But they did come, all those that had money enough.

And Joseph Pulitzer eventually bought a site for his house on a side street off Fifth avenue, paying for it more than a whole Fifth avenue block would have cost him when he drove over those cobblestones.

A GREAT street is Fifth avenue, and it has been made great not by those that came there to live and spend their accumulated money, but by men of energy that, year after year, have pushed the residences of self-appointed "Fifth avenue aristocrats" farther and farther north, to make room for the business enterprises that have built up New York.

The merchants that occupy Fifth avenue on both sides are the builders of cities. They bring the visitors that bring the money that creates the city.

LONDON finishes its "rat week" as we begin "education week." Londoners announce that they have killed three million rats in six days. Education of the right kind will destroy things more harmful than rats, including superstitions, poverty, race and religious hatreds.

Incidentally, education will wipe out some of the more brutal superstitious features of several existing religions.

RATS in London alone do five million dollars' worth of damage every year. Ignorance in America either does hundreds of millions of damage every year. The cost of prisons and insane asylums is part of the cost of ignorance, also the cost of policemen and judges, battleships and armies.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S message, announcing this education week, is as brief and as sound as any message to scientific since Jaures' message to the school teachers of France:

"Teach the children to read intelligently and all knowledge is open to them."

FATHERS and mothers need not worry because their children lack "college education." If they have been taught to read intelligently, and if they read the right books, because their minds crave information.

A better, more useful education can be got from two years' systematic reading of the right kind than the education planted in the average young student in his four years at college.

AN unfortunate girl, sitting in her own automobile, close to another car occupied by her father and mother, suddenly shot herself dead. The reporter says she "was young, rich, beautiful, had a good social position."

And since she had "everything in the world that anybody could want," the reporters can't explain her suicide.

"Everything in the world that anybody could want" is a curious statement. No human being lacking real and interesting work fully occupying the mind, has "everything that anybody could

BURGLARS TAKE ONLY EVENING GOWNS

Enter One Building by Way of Another Next Door and Escape With Loot

Another big Boylston street robbery was discovered today, when it was learned that expensive evening gowns valued at $10,000 had been taken from the Importing and Designing Shop, No. 344 Boylston street.

Two other stores in the same building were entered and ransacked, but the thieves took nothing of value from them.

The theft of the gowns was discovered by William and Charles Bowditch, proprietors of the Designing Shop.

The burglars were evidently discriminating, as bolts of valuable silks, a sable coat and other materials were left behind.

The thieves gained entrance to the loft where the gowns were stored by forcing a transom at No. 336 Boylston street, and then cut their way into the Burwitch store, which is on the second floor, next door.

Three olen gowns were for afternoon and evening wear, and the police believe they were taken because the thieves have a ready means of disposing of them.

The other stores entered were the Edwards Tailor Shop, No. 344 Boylston street, and a specialty shop in which were valuable silks and novelty cloths.

Finger Print Expert Joseph Rollins of Police Headquarters began a search for finger prints in all three stores.

COLD KILLS MAN; SIX DIE FROM AUTO SKIDS

New York, Nov. 17.—The cold wave, accompanied by a fifty-six-mile gale, continued today, with the thermometer registering 18 at 8 a. m. One man died of exposure and an elderly woman was found in a tenement hallway suffering from the cold. Six deaths were caused by motor cars skidding on wet pavements. An unidentified woman, numbed by the cold, fell off a pier and was drowned.

Five men were swept to sea and were rescued by the coast guard cutter Seminole after they had spent the night on the freezing seas in an open boat.

Maine Police Are Asked to Probe Disappearance of William Sanborn

Jobless March on State House

MRS. LOTTIE S. COTE

Her husband, Alphonse, was killed and buried in Gorham, Me., by Charles H Fielding, an admirer of the woman. The son, Ralph, a State witness, who gave the police the only clew they had, is also held as a principal witness.

DUCK LEADS TO MAN'S ARREST AS SLAYER

A dead duck on the running board of an automobile in Charlestown early today unwittingly betrayed the driver of a death car to the Charlestown police.

As a result Policeman James F. Malloy of the City square station, arrested Irvin S. Dauphine of Perkins street, Gloucester.

The policeman could not find a plausible explanation in his mind for the presence of the duck on the machine. The driver of the machine, cooking over a balky engine, was as much in the dark as the policeman.

After considerable grilling the driver of the car, Dauphine, admitted to the Charlestown authorities that a short time before his car struck a man who was walking along the Lynn turnpike in Saugus.

The Charlestown police notified the Saugus police and within a short time the body of Peter Efchuck of No. 51 Poplar street, West End, was found in the morgue of the Lynn Hospital.

Passing motorists found the man lying along the roadside suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries. He was found at the spot where the Gloucester man admitted striking a pedestrian. When Efchuck was taken to the Lynn Hospital by the motorist he was pronounced dead.

Police believe that Efchuck was carrying several wild ducks when the machine struck him and the body of one of the fowls lodged in the running board of the speeding machine, unnoticed by the driver.

SLAIN MAN AND HIS GRAVE

HUSBAND SLAIN IN QUARREL OVER $5000

Portland, Me., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Lottie F. Cote, accused of conspiring to murder her second husband, Alphonse Cote, was grilled today by County Attorney Ralph M. Ingalls regarding the mysterious disappearance in 1910 of William Sanborn, her first husband.

The County Attorney visited Mrs. Cote in her cell at Cumberland County jail following her arraignment in court. The questioning took several hours.

Charles H. Fielding of Portland, and Mrs. Cote were held without bail for the January term of the Superior Court in connection with the death of Cote, whose body was found in a secret grave near his home at Gorham Saturday night.

Fielding was charged with mur-

McDADE IS ORDERED TO GO

Removed as Deer Island Deputy by Commissioner Johnson Today

Major James H. McDade, deputy master of the Deer Island House of Correction, was discharged today by Institutions Commissioner Dr. David J. Johnson, who announced the removal in a statement issued through the Mayor's Office.

Dr. Johnson's supposition that Deer Island employes, being in the pay of the city, are county employes and not entitled to appeal before the city council, began August 1, 1923, seventy-two hours notice of a hearing before the mayor was given.

As a city employe, Major McDade, it was claimed, would be entitled to appeal to the city council for a public hearing.

In the dismissal notice, the deputy master is charged with failing to enforce discipline, with conduct unbecoming an officer and with incompetency.

McDADE TO FIGHT.

When asked what action he would take on his dismissal, McDade, former captain in the A. E. F., said he had not yet received official notice of his discharge.

"Will you fight it?" he was asked.

"Of course I am going to fight it. Why should I be made a goat for other people's mistakes?"

The mayor declared he had retained Attorney Elias Field as his counsel.

For the present, the city's stand that House of Correction employes are county employes blocks any attempt by Major McDade to secure a hearing before the City Council.

"PLANT," SAYS NELSON.

George A. Nelson, "officer and politician," who herds twelve hens on the island and who, it is charged, put off duty three weeks, election day, issued a statement today declaring that Republican campaign funds were "planted" in his locker by enemies at the island.

Major Curley charged that Nelson was electioneering for Republican candidates during his absence from duty, during which absence he drew three weeks' pay.

Appointed Boston State Commissioner of Correction, today replied to the statement of Mayor Curley regarding the election at Deer Island and declared that despite the fact that Mayor Curley says Nelson was working for Lieutenant Governor Fuller during the recent campaign, he was really working at the Curley headquarters.

SLAYER OF 2 PLEADS GUILTY; GETS LIFE

Worcester, Nov. 17.—John Rea, thirty years old, of South Barre, on trial in Superior Court on an indictment charging first degree murder of Salvatore Polco and Olindo Centracchio in South Barre on July 13 last by shooting them with a rifle, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree today when the government rested its case. He was sentenced to state prison for life. Rea offered a plea of guilty of manslaughter before Judge Fosdick last Wednesday, but the court rejected it.

Brander of Baby in Revere Is Hunted

Revere police are searching for the person who attempted to brand Barbara Scherer, nine-months-old daughter of Mrs. Rose Scherer, No. 39 Walnut street, Revere, while the infant was asleep in its carriage.

Mrs. Scherer left the infant asleep in the rear of the house while she was doing her housework. Frantic screams from the child brought the mother rushing to the yard.

At first she could find nothing wrong, but on pulling down the child's stocking she discovered several burns.

The infant was not seriously hurt.

10 RESCUED AS FIRE SWEEPS DWELLING

Two families, including one sick woman and a number of children, were driven into the biting cold of the street today when fire swept through the two and a half story wooden dwelling Nos. 7 and 9 Loudberg Place, Somerville.

The fire, believed to have been caused by a defective flue, was fanned by the high wind, and was roaring through the roof when the firemen arrived. It caused damage estimated at $4000.

Caldevino Marsilli, who lived on the first floor, was at work nearby when he saw flames and smoke shooting from the house. Hurrying inside he assisted his wife Faimina to the street, together with their two children, Jeanette, 14 months and Alma, 2½ years.

On the second floor was Mrs. Grace Rodonha, who was ill, and her five children, Robert, ten years; Angelina, eight; Steve, five; Hugo, three, and Carolina, eight months. They were taken out by firemen and cared for by neighbors.

Roseman Robert Kelson of Engine 3 stepped on a nail and injured his right foot, requiring the services of a physician.

The firemen were handicapped in fighting teh blaze by teh intense cold, which was relieved to some extent by hot coffee and doughnuts served by Ensign Kellar of the Salvation Army.

DEMAND IS PRESENTED FOR WORK

Acting Governor Cook Refers Miniature Coxey's Army to General Sweetser

A miniature Coxey's Army marched on the State House today, and invading the executive offices demanded work.

The army consisted of thirty-two citizens of Greater Boston, led by John Mahner of No. 41 Miller avenue, Dorchester.

In the absence of Governor Cox the delegation was received by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook. He advised them to deputize Mahner as spokesman to see General R. Lemy Sweetser, State commissioner of labor and industries.

"I am sure General Sweetser will try to do something for you," said Secretary Cook. "Undoubtedly the head of even an overseas, and General Sweetser will seek the co-operation of the Legion employment bureau."

One of the unemployed here interrupted to ask:

"What about those who are not service men?" and started to deliver an oration.

Secretary Cook cut him off to declare that General Sweetser would undoubtedly take care of those who were not veterans.

Mahner stated he could have collected 300 unemployed men to visit the State House, but in view of the amount of space they would take up, it was decided would do as well

NEW HAVEN R. R. SIGNALS STOP; TRAINS TIED UP

Springfield, Nov. 17.—Trouble in the power house of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad at Stamford, Ct., today tied up traffic between New Haven and this city for several hours when the electric signal system was thrown out of order. As is customary when the system is affected, the signals automatically registered positive stops and trains were held up. No statement as to the cause of the trouble was forthcoming here.

SUMMER HOME OF GREEK CONSUL BURNS

Essex, Nov. 17.—Palmyra," the Summer residence of William Heard, Greek consul in Boston, together with furnishings and antiques, all valued at $60,000, were destroyed by fire today. Police and fire officials are investigating on the theory the fire may have been set. The house was unoccupied. A passing motorist discovered the blaze.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING POLICEMAN

New York, Nov. 17.—George Stuyvesant, said to have a long police record, was today charged with the murder of Patrolman Skelly in New Britain, Ct., October 12, for which Gerald "Red" Chapman has been sou ht. Stuyvesant's companion when the shooting occurred, according to eEdward Jackson of New Britain, was Walter Sheehan, member of a prominent Springfield, Mass., family. Sheehan is now under bonds.

der, and Mrs. Cote with being an accessory before the fact.

Ralph Barton Sanborn, Mrs. Cote's son by a former marriage, also was held for the Kaley court, charged with being an accessory after the fact. He was admitted to bail in $5,000 which his mother furnished.

PLOUGHED OVER GRAVE.

According to authorities, Fielding and young Sanborn have admitted that the former shot Cote after inducing him to accompany them on a hunting trip. The body was buried in a field which was later ploughed over, and Mrs. Cote with being an accessory before the fact.

The reason assigned for the shooting was Cote's alleged cruelty to his wife and stepson.

The authorities also learned that Mrs. Cote received a $5,000 indemnity from the estate of a relative and that she and her husband quarrelled over the money.

The elder Sanborn dropped from sight on June 29, 1919, at a time when Cote was acquainted with Mrs. Sanborn, whom he later married. Cote was a resident of Gorham at the time of Sanborn's disappearance and during the following month he operated boarding at the home of Mrs. Sanborn. She obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion in 1913 and married Cote six months later.

TWO HUSBANDS GONE.

The coincidence of the disappearance of two husbands of the woman caused considerable speculation. The boy, shortly after his arrest, admitted he aided Fielding in hiding Cote's body in the woods after the shooting, and later helped to bury it in a field.

In telling his story he said an ugly fight existed between Cote and Fielding since July 4, when Mrs. Cote rode in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Fielding, instead of in the car of her husband.

"Cote called Mrs. Fielding a name," the boy said, "and it made Fielding awful mad. Cote was pretty wild, too. They were both friends from that time on. They never were good friends, but often went hunting together."

It was only through the confession of young Sanborn that the authorities were able to clear up the mysterious disappearance of Andrew Cote, missing from his home for ten days.

CONFESSED TO DETAILS.

The boy, unable to stand up under a severe grilling by the county authorities, broke down and confessed that his stepfather had been shot down in the woods near his home by Charles H. Fielding, a Portland plumber, who was a guest at the Cote home.

The boy gave the complete details of how he and Fielding had covered the body of Cote over with leaves and, late that night, had returned to the woods and carried the body to a field, burying it in a grave they hastily dug. The boy then ploughed over the field several times to cover traces of the grave.

That the youth maintained the same dogged silence as did Fielding and Mrs. Cote when questioned, the disappearance of Cote likely would have remained unsolved.

Armed with the youth's confession, however, the authorities have secured confession from both Fielding and the widow of the slain man, but unless young Sanborn is located the authorities fear Mrs. Cote and the confessed slayer will repudiate their confession and the State will have difficulty in presenting a complete case to a jury.

ACCEPTED AS BAIL.

County Attorney Ralph M. Ingalls permitted the youth to be released on bail after a conference with Attorney Harry Nixon, who was retained as counsel by Mrs. Cote.

The woman, whose first husband mysteriously disappeared fifteen years ago and who may now be connected by the authorities with the disappearance if the body can be found, is owner of the farm on which the Cotes lived. She recently came into possession of a $5,000 bequest from a relative and it was over this money that she and her husband continually fought.

ATTACKED BY WOMAN.

She was readily accepted as bail for her son and the lad, released from the jail, ran from the building and nothing has since been seen of him. Search for the lad is being carried on throughout the State today.

Although Fielding has confessed that he shot down Cote, his only reason is that he hated Cote for the manner in which the latter treated his wife.

Fielding and his wife, long acquaintances of the Cotes, went to the Cote farm from their home in Portland for a two weeks' vacation. Apparently there was bad blood between the men and threats were exchanged.

There is evidence that Fielding was attracted to Mrs. Cote, this attraction dated back several years and when Fielding shot and killed Cote in the woods, he apparently found the slain man's wife a willing ally, for she immediately spread the story that her husband had disappeared after stealing $60, and had likely gone to Canada.

With the body recovered and the rifle with which Cote was shot in their possession, the authorities still believe they will have a difficult task in working up a case without the testimony of the young stepson, who was with the hunting party and came on his stepfather's body while Fielding was stooping over it.

found frozen to death in the street in Hartford, Ct.

The temperature dropped 20 degrees in less than six hours in Boston. Elsewhere in New England the drop was longer, but not so rapid. In some rural sections the mercury dropped to 10 above.

FIRES PUT OUT.

Forest fires in Massachusetts were put out by rain which preceded the extreme cold. A bad fire was reported at Dennis, on Cape Cod.

The weather bureau promised rising temperature for tomorrow, but added that the weather for a time will be generally cold and windy.

The coast guard cutter Tampa responded to a distress call from two schooners off Chatham today. They were the W. T. Bell of Norfolk, Boston bound, and the Stormy Petrel of Ellsworth, Me., both with sails torn to tatters, and anchors threatening to drag.

Another vessel was reported ashore eight miles northeast of Highland Light and coast guards were cruising in search of it.

In Boston the temperature at 7 a. m. was 14 above zero. Just six hours before it was 34. The mercury rose slowly during the day.

The sudden freeze created havoc in many ways. Automobiles in unheated garages suffered burst radiators. Unattended greenhouses suffered, while those having night attendants had difficulty in keeping temperatures above the freezing point, so rapidly the outside temperature fell, and so searching was the gale.

Ships at sea making port had to buck the stiff gale while the freezing spray formed ice on the helmsman's coat. The United Fruit liner San Benito experienced a drop of fifty degrees in a few hours, according to Captain D. W. McDonald. The liner, with passengers from the tropics, docked today at Long Wharf, and the unacclimated passengers suffered in the cold wind.

HARVARD MEN ACT ON VICE CHARGES

Students' Council Head Protests Report on Alleged Back Bay Conditions

Harvard students and their student council are ready to pass judgment on the intercollegiate committee on housing's report on vice and immoral conditions among Boston's college students, men and women.

Members of the council refuse to discuss in advance of their meeting, tonight, what action they will take on the report. It is understood from those close to the council members that a majority regard the report as entirely too drastic and severe.

Henry T. Dunker, football player and head of the student council, has openly expressed his disapproval of the report, declared that he believed the picture of vice in students' quarters in the Back Bay and elsewhere as being greatly overdrawn.

Meantime, the subcommittee under George H. Wright, appointed to take the report of vice conditions and outline corrective measures, is whipping it into shape. This will be submitted at a meeting to be held in the Boston University School of Business Administration on Wednesday afternoon at 4:15.

The Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of the Park Street Church, in a sermon prelude, declared that it is up to the Boston police to correct evil conditions surrounding the students. He also asserted that the college authorities were evading their duties of supervision.

"When the police of Boston see young men and young women going in the same door together under suspicious circumstances they should be aware of what is going on there," he said.

"A friend of mine reasoned with a college head regarding the fact that his son was not living the right sort of life in college. And what did that college head say? He answered, 'Our college is not a reformatory.'

WIFE-SLAYER, KIN OF SIR WALTER RALEIGH, SEEKS PARDON

WILL SEEK SHARE IN MILLIONS

Dr. Amesbury Says Baronetcy Awaits His Release From State Prison

One of four living descendants of Sir Walter Raleigh, and claiming a baronetcy and a quarter share in Raleigh's $20,000,000 estate is awaiting his release, Dr. Walter Raleigh Amesbury, who killed his wife on Christmas Day, 1907, in Hyde Park, seeks a pardon.

Dr. Amesbury is serving a life sentence for second-degree murder. The present petition, now being considered by the State Parole Board is the fourth attempt in fifteen years by the physician to secure his freedom.

The slaying occurred during a fruitless attempt by Dr. Amesbury to persuade his wife, Mrs. Anna Vatler Rees Amesbury to return to him.

Learning she had come back from Virginia to her mother's home, No. 220 Metropolitan avenue, the physician rushed over from his Milford office and endeavored to effect a reconciliation.

When he was rebuffed, he drew a revolver and killed his wife instantly. The two Amesbury sons rushed into the room, overpowered their father and bound him with ropes until the police came.

One of the sons has always opposed his father's release. The name of the other son, Myra R. Amesbury of No. 391 Lagrange street, West Roxbury, appears as one the eighteen signers to the pardon petition now being considered, however.

MARJORIE SCHNEIDER'S CASE AGAIN POSTPONED

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 17.—Miss Marjorie Schneider, driver of the automobile in which Charles G. Rogers, bond salesman, met death on the night of November 1, is not to appear for some time in North Haven Town Court to answer a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. Attorneys representing Miss Schneider are to meet with Ward Church, prosecutor for North Haven, late this afternoon to arrange a date for the hearing. Meanwhile Miss Schneider is to remain in seclusion to recover from her experiences. Desire to offer witnesses who are absent from the State led the postponement of the hearing, it is said.

BROTHER OF VILLA CAPTURED AND SHOT

Mexico City, Nov. 17 (I.N.S.)—Hipolito Villa, brother of the late rebel chieftain, Pancho Villa, and in a lesser way a follower in his brother's footsteps, has gone to the same death which closed Pancho Villa's colorful career.

Hipolito Villa took part in the defunct revolution which sought to place De la Huerta in power.

He was taken from a train en route to Celaya, backed up against one of the couches and shot by forces who feared his influence at the head of a revolt.

TEST CAR RAILS TO TAKE OUT THE BUMP

Washington, Nov. 17.—Having due regard for Washington's nerves, experts of the Bureau of Standards have gone into the woods to make a test of joints of steel rails under conditions simulating those when flat wheels pound away nightly or daily.

A power hammer, weighing four hundred pounds and driven by an electric motor was fallingonce every second on a welded joint today and the experts hoped to determine by the test which of four or five types could best withstand the rough treatment.

WORLD FLIERS LEAVE ST. LOUIS FOR DAYTON

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 17.—Fair weather greeted the four round-the-world fliers when the planes, Boston and New Orleans, left here for St. Louis.

From St. Louis, the world fliers will go to Dayton, O., where the planes will be left, the pilots proceeding by rail to Washington.

RHINELANDER BALKS AT FAMILY PARLEY

MRS. LEONARD KIP RHINELANDER

(International Newsreel Photo).

First photo of the former Alice Beatrice Jones, said to be of negro blood, since her marriage to the young scion of one of New York's oldest and wealthiest families. Her husband is in seclusion with her in her New Rochelle, N. Y., home from which he sent out a refusal to attend a Rhinelander family conference over the marriage.

LAUNDRYMAN SLAIN, ROBBED, IN ROXBURY

With a deep gash on his head and two bullet holes in his body, Wong Dong Gin, Chinese laundryman, was found slain early today in the kitchen of the laundry at No. 808 Tremont street, Roxbury.

The laundry till and pockets of the Chinese were rifled.

Fr. roiman James Taylor of the Roxbury Crossing station discovered the laundry door ajar while making his rounds.

Entering he discovered the body of Gin stretched on the kitchen floor.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary was notified and he discovered, in addition to the gash on the head, a bullet wound in the chest and another in the abdomen.

The finding of the slain Chinese's body brought vis ons of a tong war renewal to the police, with robbery committed as a "cover."

A check-up of the dead laundryman's activities, however, failed to disclose any connection with a Tong.

37 ARRAIGNED FOR GAMING; ONE FOR KEEPING LIQUOR

Thirty-seven men were arraigned on the charge of gaming on the Lord's Day in the Cambridge District Court today. They were arrested in raids conducted by a squad of patrolmen under the lead of Sergeants Douglass and Healey of the Lusitania and Lubo Clubs, East Cambridge.

John Sousa, No. 52 East Fifth street, Cambridge, said to be the janitor of the building at No. 250 Cambridge street, in which the two clubs are located, was arraigned on the charge of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. The police reported that they found a half gallon of liquor and twenty packs of cards.

YOUTH READY TO ACCEPT SOCIAL BAN

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 17 (Universal)—Leonard Kip Rhinelander scion of one of the wealthiest and proudest families of Manhattan, whose marriage to Alice Beatrice Jones of New Rochelle, said to be of negro blood, came to light last week, has refused to attend alone a gathering of the Rhinelander clans, it was revealed today.

Barricaded with his bride in the little frame house which serves his parents-in-law for a home, he practically broadcasts his defiance. Should excommunication be society's decree, he will accept, it is understood.

Meanwhile, the conference in Manhattan went right ahead, without the bridegroom. Philip Rhinelander, Alice Beatrice Jones' new father-in-law, acted as charm. He had come back to his town domicile as precipitately as he had left it a few days ago, along with enough servants and baggage to make him comfortable for ten years.

Barricaded with his bride in the Rhinelander, Alice Beatrice Jones' new father-in-law, acted as charm. He had come back to his town domicile as precipitately as he had left it a few days ago, along with enough servants and baggage to make him comfortable for ten years.

Laura Riddle is to marry William Rhinelander stewart. Who is a go-up to Kip, next month, and that young lady has considered herself lucky—if a Biddle can so far condescend—in capturing the thirty-five year-old bachelor of means and good looks. The wedding of course is to be the outstanding social event to the Portuguese throne.

Young Stewart has been locked on a Manhattan's most eligible "catch." He is a brother of Princess Miguel de Braganza, widow of the pre-nder the the Portugese throne.

If the family is "up in the air" over the marital escapade of Kip's the young Rhinelanders and the Jones have at least one a much friend in the Rev. J. McVickar Haight, pastor of Christ Church in Pelham Manor. He is the Joiness pastor.

"There is no color line in Christ Church. I believe in the brotherhood of man," he told his flock.

BANDIT WHO WOUNDED POLICEMAN IS HUNTED

Stratford, Ct., Nov. 17. — With Policeman Edward Manchester in a serious condition in Bridgeport Hospital today, with bullet wounds in his head, right arm and one of his legs, police and posses of citizens scoured the woods and meadows of Stratford, seeking the Post Road bandit who shot Manchester after holding up a grocery store and escaping with $133.16.

STUDENTS ARE HUNTED IN SHOOTING

Believe Youths Dismissed From College Can Explain Attack on Doctor

Former students of the Middlesex College of Medicine and Surgery of Cambridge are sought for questioning in connection with the shooting of Dr. John H. D. Smith, head of the college.

The finding of the students is believed to be a comparatively easy task, and it is expected that the mysterious attempt on the life of the doctor, as he drove his automobile along First street, East Cambridge, will be cleared up within a few days.

The doctor is rapidly recovering at the Middlesex Hospital, of which he is also the head.

STUDENTS DISMISSED.

The rifle bullet entered his forehead at the left side just above the eye, scored the skull and passed from the scalp on the right side, leaving only a superficial wound. Had the bullet struck a fraction of an inch nearer the temple the physician would have been killed.

Some months ago there was considerable dissatisfaction at the Middlesex College, students claiming the standards of the institution were not high enough, and the college did not rank with similar institutions throughout the country.

As a result, a number of the dissatisfied students were dropped. Some of these students complained to the county and State authorities and a feeling of bitterness was engendered.

The questioning of some of these students may clear up the mystery of the two threatening notes received by the doctor during the past few weeks.

The first note, printed in ink and received about two weeks ago, warned the doctor to get out of town.

The second note found on the doorstep of the doctor's home at No. 15 Craigie street, Cambridge, was made up of newspaper headline clippings, pasted together to read "Dr. Smith Found Slain."

The doctor then regarded these messages as of little importance and as the work of a crank, but the police attach considerable attention to them in view of the attempt to murder the physician.

DOUBTS STUDENT THEORY.

Dr. Smith was driving his car from his office to the hospital when the shot was fired. Before he became dazed, he recollected seeing four men run up the street, but they were too far away for him to recognize any of them.

The doctor is inclined to scout the theory of his former students being connected with the shooting. He ascribes the attempt on his life to the work of a crank.

Recently the State Board of Health and the State Attorney-General's department investigated the Middlesex College and a report is now in the hands of the State authorities.

Hot Vapor Baths and Special Cooking for Sick Doggies

New York, Nov. 17.—Vapor baths, dietary kitchens and open-air runs, all for the benefit of dogs, are among the features of the addition just completed to the hospital of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Avenue A and Twenty-fourth street.

The addition will be devoted exclusively to the treatment of distemper, dogdom's most serious disease.

The hospital now has accommodations for 268 dogs, and in ten months has given 22,000 days' treatment to about 11,000 animals.

WIFE SHOOTS AT 'OTHER WOMAN' IN LOVE THEFT

Far from a perfect husband Michael D'Amato might have been, but Gertrude, his wife, was averse to another woman stealing him.

Therefore, Gertrude, by her own admission, came from New York to Boston, hunted out one Anna Woods and took her to task.

In the altercation, in Huntington avenue, Anna drew a razor. Then Gertrude produced a gun. Gertrude won by several shots and Anna raced away in an automobile, but whether wounded or not only Anna can say.

Today in Municipal Court, Gertrude told the story of her quarrel with Michael, the selling of their furniture and his departure.

She was charged with carrying a loaded revolver and discharging a firearm in the street. A charge of wanton with intent to kill was sought, but inasmuch as Anna has not been found, the warrant was denied.

Gertrude was held in $500 until November 20. Meanwhile a search will be conducted for Anne Woods.

COURTS TO PASS ON B. & M. TICKET THEFTS

The next step in the investigation of an alleged conspiracy to steal tickets from the Boston & Maine Railroad will be taken at Portland, Me., by the Cumberland County Grand Jury, it is indicated at the offices of the road here.

The thefts, believed to have been made entirely on the Portland Division, have cost the road several hundred thousands of dollars. Twelve employees of the road are suspected.

It is reported now that many other employes of the railroad had been approached in the past by men who sought to induce them to enter into a conspiracy to steal and resell tickets. In almost all instances, the proposals were rejected.

COLD AND SNOW IN CENTRAL NEW YORK

Syracuse, N. Y. Nov. 17—A blanket of snow over a wide area in Central New York State and temperatures generally below the freezing mark today furnished evidence of the first snow storm of the season.

The lowest announced temperature in this vicinity was at Gouverneur, in St. Lawrence County, where 17 degrees prevailed during the night.

KILLED SELF AS WIFE PLANNED NEW WEDDING

Pretty Divorcee Denied Privilege of Attending Funeral of Man She Cast Off

John W. Stevens, son of a wealthy Brookline man, whose wife recently obtained a divorce, naming a "beautiful stranger," committed suicide by shooting in Philadelphia, it was learned today.

His former wife, the attractive daughter of a Newburyport banker, who was herself charged with a statutory offense in Brighton court last year, was denied permission to attend the funeral, she says.

Mrs. Stevens declared she and her former husband were about to be remarried, she having obtained the divorce on "punishment."

The suicide's father, Frank H. Stevens of Allen place, Brookline, member of the print policy manufacturing firm of Wild & Stevens, admitted he had refused to give his former daughter-in-law any information regarding his son's funeral.

John W. Stevens, who was thirty-one years old, shot himself about a month ago in a fit of despondency. His father said he knew the reason, but that it was a family matter.

"John considered his life a failure, and so did the family," said the father today. "The girl married him for letter or worse, but when he was out of a job and without funds, she began to make complaints.

"When I learned of my son's death, I brought the body home, and in making the funeral arrangements I did not consider John's former wife at all. She had nothing a divorce soon before his death, and I felt she had no standing as a member of his family."

The former Mrs. Stevens, when seen in her Audubon road flush bay apartment, said: "I had a premonition of his death, and dreamed he shot himself. She said she was heartbroken because she was not permitted to attend the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stevens were married April 19, 1923, in New York, three months after they had met for the first time in a tea dance in the Hotel Touraine, Boston. They eloped to New York, and after the wedding, went to Portland, Oregon, on a honeymoon trip, and they settled in Oakland, California.

RHODE ISLAND'S 'EXILES' BACK THIS WEEK

Warring Politicians Reach an Agreement for Early Adjournment of General Assembly

Providence, Nov. 17.—(I.N.S.)—Following a series of conferences during the week end, Republican and Democratic legislative leaders will hold a formal meeting tomorrow at which, it is expected, an agreement will be reached whereby the 24 Republican Senators who have been in voluntary exile at Portland, Maine, since last June will return to Providence, this week. Both branches of the General Assembly are expected to pass an appropriation bill and then adjourn sine die.

The conferences over the week end frankly admitted that their eight months' filibuster for the passage of a constitutional convention amendment was repudiated by the people at the polls and expressed their readiness to assist in the passage of an appropriation bill so that the General Assembly may adjourn sine die.

U. S. TRIES TO SETTLE STRIKE OF 22,000 MINERS

Washington, Nov. 17.—(I.N.S.)—The Federal government undertook today to settle the strike of 22,000 anthracite miners in the Scranton, Pa., district. Acting secretary of Labor Henning ordered Thomas R. Davis, a commissioner of conciliation, to that city with instructions to mediate the difference between the miners and the Hudson Coal Company. The strike was due to a reduction in wages.

CIVIC OPERA REVIVAL IS OPPOSED

Musical Circles Encouraged by San Carlo Promises for Next Year

Boston musical circles are quite interested in the future of Grand Opera here.

On the heels of the closing of a successful two weeks' run by the San Carlo Opera Company at the Boston Opera House and of a statement of its director, Fortune Gallo, of the plans for this organization in Boston next year, come persistent rumors that Henry Russell, former director of the ill-starred Boston Opera Company, is coming here to again try the venture.

Mr. Russell has been engaged in various enterprises since leaving Boston, the latest of which has been an operatic organization in Australia. He is now said to be in San Francisco and has been quoted as being anxious to return to Boston to resume direction of its operatic affairs.

Those who remember his former regime at the Opera House are rather divided as to the wisdom of that course. There are some who maintain that with the San Carlo Company visiting Boston regularly, and now practically pledged to a more extensive season in the future, and with the Chicago Company coming here, Boston has sufficient operatic fare to make a new venture unprofitable and undesirable.

Mr. Gallo's statement announced plans whereby Boston will practically have a civic opera company, to be shared with Philadelphia and New York. Four weeks will be given next year, instead of two. Chorus and ballet will be assembled from local performers, and opportunity will be given, as has been the custom in the past, for local lovers of talent to appear in principal roles.

Under the new arrangement Mr. Gallo intends to give American girls even more opportunity to make a career in their own country, something almost impossible with any other American operatic company. Mr. Gallo in his statement, asked for no financial support, except the patronage and co-operation of the arge music public.

MRS. HARDING RESTS QUIETLY, NEAR DEATH

Few Idle Hours for Boston's Debutantes This Week

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE debutantes will have as few idle hours this week as they've had ever since the season really began.

"The more hectic the better," says Miss Debutante. For you're only a bud once, and the glorious "first year" can't possibly be too crowded to suit the blithe young things whom it's all about."

Today Miss Alice Sherburne is entertaining in honor of two debbies of the season, Miss Carol Paine and Miss Helen Kennard. The former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Paine, gave a dance for her at their Weston home, in which Miss Sally Robbins shared the honors. Miss Paine's formal bow to society, however, is not to take place until a week from Friday—the 28th—the affair a large ball at the Country Club. Miss Kennard has already had her formal presentation, her father, Arthur Kennard, having given a reception for her at the Hotel Somerset, a little over a week ago.

Tomorrow Mrs. William Fitzgerald was to have entertained at luncheon for her daughter, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, but this function has been cancelled.

Wednesday, however, will find the debbies on the qui vive in the afternoon comes the tea for Miss Jane Shelly Megrew, while the later hours will find the tireless members of "first-year" contingent at the dance for Miss Junia Bright, to be held out Cambridge way at Buckingham Hall.

Thursday—ditto. There's a tea on the cards for the afternoon, a Chilton Club affair which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morse Channing are giving for their daughter, Mrs. Barbara Channing.

In the evening comes the rather small ball at the Hotel Somerset being stated by the Langdon Brothers for their daughter, Miss Ellen Frothingham. The latter is perhaps one of the most prominent buds of the 1924-25 season. She was president of her class at the Winsor School, and this Fall was made vice-chairman of the Junior League's provisional group.

THOUGH the following day is Friday—Friday's are usually a premium among matrons arranging social functions—th's particular Friday affords no large but en-tertainment. The reason, of course, is obvious, since a large portion of the bud contingent and their cavaliers are attending the well-nigh traditional Crimson-Blue clash taking place next Saturday at the Bowl.

WHEN the debutante isn't entirely taken up with the hundred and one affairs given just for her and her sister-buds, the chances are that she's been corralled to do waitress, or saleslady or usher duty at some charity project be'n' staged by Dame Society. Several of the affairs, for instance, are assisting Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson, Jr., and Mrs. Donald Mackay Frost, who are presiding over the tea tables at the exhibition of unusual foreign posters taking place today at No. 66 Berkeley street. The exhibition is to benefit the Ellis Memorial, and the hours are from 2 until 7.

WHAT will the Stock Exchange do this week?

Last week it broke records for buying and selling, and financial writers tell you that the value of securities "increased by three billion dollars." Perhaps so, perhaps not. The value of stocks depends on the value of the things behind the stocks.

The value of the railroad depends on traffic, on efficiency, on management and honesty. You get the reports on the traffic that may be reliable. But you have to guess at the honesty and efficiency.

NUNS LAUDED BY CARDINAL AT JUBILEE

Prelate Proud of Teaching Work of Notre Dame of Namur Order

The Sisters of Notre Dame of Namur have completed seventy-five years' service of teaching in Boston.

The golden jubilee of the order was celebrated at a solemn high mass in St. Mary's Church, Endicott street, North End, when Cardinal O'Connell congratulated the nuns.

There were other agencies at work, the Cardinal said, teaching and instructing Catholic women, but the Sisters of Notre Dame, he felt did the work better than any other agency.

"We have only to look about us," said he, "to see the splendid Catholic womanhood, the fine Catholic mothers, that their training has produced, the devoted daughters, who are working hard and diligently to provide for their parents or those who need sustenance.

"We have reason to be proud of what they have accomplished for Catholic womanhood in this archdiocese."

During the seventy-five years that the order has been in Boston, it has grown in importance and numbers until today it is the leading Catholic teaching order for women in the archdiocese.

The little primary school which is opened on Stillman street, in the North End, at the invitation of the Rev. John McElroy, S. J., one of the pioneers in Catholic education in the United States, has expanded into Notre Dame Academy, Roxbury, and into Emmanuel College in the Fenway, two of the leading Catholic colleges for women in the United States.

PROTEST SEPARATION OF NEGROES IN WAR TABLETS

Washington, Nov. 17.—Vigorous protests are being made against the separation of the names of white and negro Treasury employes killed in the war on tablets recently placed in the lobby of the department register's office.

One of the protests, addressed to President Coolidge by West A. Hamilton, commander of the James H. Walker Post of the American Legion, described the action as "a most vicious bit of discrimination and un-Americanism."

The Walker post also sent a message to the Walter Carter Post of Berkeley, charging that the "drawing of the color line in death" was an insult to 400,000 negro veterans and urging them to join in the protest to the secretary.

The fire was Jersey City's second in which millions were lost within three days.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, Creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist or Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

PONZI FACES COURT FOR THIRD TIME

Charged With Larceny in Connection With International Coupon Scheme

For the third time Charles Ponzi came today into Suffolk Superior Court to stand trial on larceny charges in connection with his international reply coupon business.

Two years ago he was tried on a dozen indictments and acquitted. Last week, after his second trial on larceny indictments, the jury disagreed on four counts. Judge Bishop had ordered a not guilty verdict on another count.

Today Ponzi's name was called for a third time.

FOOTBALL FANS CONTRIBUTE TO BASKET FUND

Football fans who attended the Boston College-Centenary game at Braves Field Saturday afternoon "chipped in" $385.53 for the Helping Hand Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston American. Scores of girls and women made the collection. The largest individual collection was turned in by Mrs. Helene Pescaglia of No. 97 Gilman street, Somerville, who thereby won the three-strand aquamarine chain pearl necklace presented by A. Bogwell & Co., Inc.

She collected $20.25. This is the sixth successive year she has contributed her services in behalf of the Fund. Her efforts have resulted in the feeling of hundreds of needy children. The second largest collection Saturday was made by Helen Groninger of No. 82 Hewins street, Winthrop, who turned in $15.75. She was closely followed by Gladys J. Robinson of No. 34 Lundale street, Dorchester, who collected $15.72.

Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, that gallant soldier who directed the famous Twenty-sixth Division in France during the World War, has endorsed the Helping Hand Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston American, which is to feed thousands of needy Kiddies in their homes on Christmas Day.

Tickets are now on sale for the big charity ball and entertainment in Copley-Plaza Hotel main ballroom, on Thursday evening, December 11, which is to be conducted under the auspices of the Gertrude De'an-De Petro Studios of Dancing and Madame Lyman School for Stage Children.

These tickets may be obtained at the studios of these teachers or from their numerous pupils. This ball is to be the chief social event in aid of the American's Fund. To make it a financial success the proprietors of the Feine Trimming Shop at No. 453 Washington street has contributed a beautiful rhinestone theatrical head-dress and a pair of satin ballet slippers as prizes to the pupils of these studios selling the largest number of tickets for the ball. These prizes will be presented at Copley Plaza Hotel on the evening of the ball to the winners.

The first party in aid of the Christmas Fund will be held in Odd Fellows Hall, Malden Square, next Thursday evening by Mrs. Annie Muldoon of that city, aided by the Gertrude Dolan-De Petro Studios of Dancing.

A substantial contribution to the Fund in the form of a check for fifty dollars was made by Ausonia Council No. 1513, Knights of Columbus.

U. S. Spends More to Save Cattle Than Babies, Head of Foresters Points Out.

Large cities with the over-crowded tenements and insanitary slums are more healthful for young babies than small towns, according to Frank E. Hand, Supreme Vice-Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters.

"Infant mortality figures," said Mr. Hand, "prove that a comparatively small number of infant deaths occur in the largest cities in the United States. A survey of 344 cities showed that in towns of from 10,000 to 25,000 population the death rate of babies in their first year was 81.6 per thousand. In cities with over 250,000 people the infant death rate was only 75.9 per thousand.

"Seventy-eight babies out of every 1,000 born last year in America died in their first year. The Pacific Coast has the lowest infant mortality rate. Washington headed the list with fifty-one deaths per thousand; Oregon was second with fifty-three and California had an average of sixty-six.

"The United States spends more money annually to protect cattle than it does to prevent infant mortality.

GEORGE BAXTER FIGHTS LOWELL SHERMAN

Thespians Clash Over Lillian Foster at the Ball of the Equity Association

New York, Nov. 17.—Lowell Sherman, a Broadway actor, engaged in a fist fight with George Baxter, also an actor, at the Actors' Equity Association ball which ended at the Hotel Astor with several fights and one affair with a razor, it was learned today.

One quarrel was apparently caused by Sherman's refusal to introduce Baxter to Miss Lillian Foster, appearing in "Conscience," a current Broadway show, according to Baxter. The fight started in Sherman's box which he occupied with his mother and Nora Bayes.

Ethel Barrymore occupied an adjoining box. Both Sherman and Baxter bore marks of the conflict. There was no complaint to the police.

Another affray resulted in the wounding of Basil Gallagher, of Metuchen, N. J., a newspaperman. Charles Cambridge was held in $10,000 bail on a charge of felonious assault. Gallagher was slashed about the face with a razor.

John Saporensky was arrested on a charge of grand larceny on complaint of "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, former pugilist, who claimed that $400 was picked from his pocket during a fight that started when an actor's silk hat was knocked off.

A few weeks ago Lillian Foster made her first appearance as a Broadway leading woman and was hailed immediately by the critics as a second Duse.

Her surname, however, is McCoy. Eight years ago she came to Broadway in search of a career, but constant rebuffs landed her eventually in Kansas City, where she had small parts in stock.

From then on her ascent has been decidedly gradual, her one outstanding part, until "Conscience," being the lead in a second company of "Fair and Warmer."

COOLIDGE TELLS FARM BOARD WHAT HE WANTS

Washington, Nov. 17.—President Coolidge today put up to the commission of representative farm leaders he has appointed the problem of mapping out a program for the permanent stabilization of agriculture. No statement was forthcoming from the White House after the meeting. Robert D. Carey of Wyoming, chairman of the commission, said the investigating body would meet later at the Department of Agriculture to organize and discuss a plan of procedure.

MORGAN WIDOW DEAD AT AGE OF 82

Arrangements for the Funeral Await the Arrival of Her Son From Abroad

Richard Pulls, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Frances P. Morgan, widow of J. Pierpont Morgan, died at her home here after several weeks of ill ness. Pneumonic conditions, which set in during the last twenty-four hours, were the immediate cause of death.

Mrs. Morgan, who was eighty-two years old, was reported to have suffered a stroke ten days ago. She had been unconscious for the last four days. Efforts were made to prolong her life until the arrival of her son, J. P. Morgan, from a European trip. He is expected to reach New York Friday. Arrangements for the funeral will be held in abeyance until his arrival.

Mrs. Morgan also is survived by three daughters, Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Juliet Hamilton and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee.

LAST NIGHT ON THE AIR BY THE LISTENER

Of particular interest yesterday was the broadcast from King's Chapel of the Choir Forum. It is of great benefit to the radio audience to hear an occasional swapping of public opinion such as takes place at these forums. WNAC is doing a good work.

I heard a Swedenborgian recently remark, in connection with the Sunday church services via radio, what a wonderful thing it was to hear the service and not be at a safe distance from the collection plate. I heard later, silent, this same Swedenborgian that he was listening to one of Dr. Massey's sermons from Tremont Temple, and under the influences of his persuasive manner, loosened up with a check and sent it in to the church. Many skeptics, upon reading this, will now be obliged to admit the greatness of radio.

The Skinner Organ Company's program was early last night, due to the fact that Roxie and his Gang are away from New York on tour. I could tune this excellent music in with about equal volume from each of the three stations, WEAF, WCAU and WJAR. As the conclusion of this program, control was shifted to the Henry Miller Theatre, with Graham McNamee on the microphone. This was the occasion of a wonderful concert by the Little Symphony Orchestra, which came through with unusual clarity. The attendant noise, usually apparent in broadcasts of this sort, was absent last night.

Conditions for reception were very good. There was practically no static, and the stations came through with plenty of punch. Only interference was bothersome at frequent intervals, and could be cut out on waves around 450 meters in abundance. I strongly suspect that the 450 meter wave is being used by many ships, in disregard of the ruling prohibiting its use during broadcast hours by American vessels. Foreign ships may, of course, use their radios without restriction, after they get outside the territorial limits. In radio terms, this doesn't mean a thing, because I have repeatedly encountered code interference from foreign vessels which were in mid-Atlantic.

Another peculiar phenomena which has been observed lately in connection with the local stations, is that of varying broadness in tuning. WNAC or WEEI will come through as sharp as a razor one night, and on the very next night will overlap much other station. Many fans will undoubtedly have the impression that the power of the station is being increased, but is not the case. I have visited both these stations on different evenings and know for a fact that the adjustments are never changed regarding power. Much has been learned about transmission phenomena during the past year, but I do not recall ever hearing an explanation for this one.

Heard another new instrument over the air last night. It was the harpsichord from the Henry Miller Theatre.

'NIGHTINGALE' TO BROADCAST TONIGHT

The "Nightingales" an orchestra composed of pianist and formerly a piano at M. I. T., will broadcast a program of dance music from WEEI tonight.

The broadcast artists featuring in commercial solos and singing which will be put on by the Edison Light. Most of the band are members of the Mu Delta fraternity, Technology chapter.

ROBBERS GET $12,800 AT AL TEARNEY'S CAFE

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Seven robbers early today invaded the Pershing Palace cafe and ballroom, owned by Al Tearney, noted dance bandist and then, bound a watchman, blew open the safe and robbed $12,800.

ASKS $323,000,000 TO BUILD UP U. S. NAVY

Washington, Nov. 17 (U.N.S.)—Secretary Wilbur today carried to Congress his plea for funds to keep the United States Navy at the strength authorized by the Washington armament conference. He appeared before the House appropriations committee with a request for appropriation for the fiscal year 1925-26 of $323,000,000—$30,000,000 more than was allotted to the navy by the Bureau of the Budget.

DE FOREST RADIOPHONE

The principle is right

IN the first place, it is ready to use the minute you get it into your house (by the way, in your house is where you ought to have the De Forest agent demonstrate it).

In the second place, De Forest engineers have, in the D-12, solved the problem of a complete outfit in one cabinet—batteries, loud speaker and all—so that it is easily movable and requires no wire connections of any sort.

In the third place, the price is right. One price includes everything. No extras needed, and the price is about one-third less than that of receivers of comparative performance.

In the fourth place, it has remarkable selectivity and range—even as to distant stations.

In the fifth place, it is economical to use, very low on battery current and easy on tubes.

In the sixth place—and most important—its quality of perfect tone reproduction is unexcelled by any instrument at any price.

Third of a series of advertisements regarding the telephone situation in New England

Service Value

The value of telephone service depends largely upon the number of telephones connected.

A single telephone would have no service value. On the other hand, while every telephone subscriber may not want to talk to every other telephone subscriber, everyone wants to talk to someone, else there would be no need of a telephone.

The greater the distribution of telephones in a community, therefore, the greater the opportunity for communication, and hence the greater the value of the service to all.

During the past ten years the number of telephones operated by this company has more than doubled—increased from 464,074 in 1914 to 1,058,733 as of November 1, 1924.

During these ten years, however, the average increase in the charges for service per telephone has been less than fifteen per cent. This increase has not bridged the difference between relative costs of 1914 and of 1924.

Labor and material constitute two of our principal cost items. How they have increased in ten years is known to all.

The company must pay these increased costs in order to give service, and it must seek the necessary additional revenue from its only source of revenue—the rates for telephone service.

Next-door neighbor does the neighborly thing

—and one bottle of REM for Coughs does double duty

Little Ernest Arnault, Jr., had one of those coughs the whole neighborhood hears. Despite his age, that cough was of the man-size variety. Laura Delaney, the little girl next door, had just passed through the same experience, so when her mother heard Ernest coughing she knew just what to do!

There was some REM left in the bottle that had relieved Laura's cough and Mrs. Delaney did the neighborly thing. She sent the bottle of REM next door—and here's a word of appreciation from Ernest's mother, who lives at 240 Campbell Ave., Revere, Mass.

"My son, Ernest, Jr., had a bad cough this winter. He's out in all sorts of weather.

"Well, this cough he had was certainly bad. It kept him awake most of the night coughing and also kept me awake. It was a dry cough; his throat was sore and he was miserable. The poor child had a hard time.

"Then Mrs. Delaney, my neighbor, heard Ernest coughing, and sent me up the remainder of a bottle of 'REM' she had been giving Laura. It did the work right away, put an end to his cough real quickly. He hasn't been bothered much since. I'm certainly grateful to Mrs. Delaney for sending it to me."

Grateful users who have passed the good word along are largely responsible for REM'S widespread popularity.

A special ingredient in REM—effective, harmless—is not found in ordinary cough syrups. Clinging to your throat as it is swallowed, REM spreads a soothing, healing film over the sore, inflamed membranes.

No Opiates in REM. And pleasant to take.

Ask your druggist for REM—the blue package with the round orange label. You can have your money back if it doesn't help you. You're the Judge and Jury.

MARION DAVIES IN FILM HERE NEXT WEEK

Janice Meredith Has Concluded Sensational New York Run

The Boston premiere of "Janice Meredith," starring Marion Davies, will take place at the Majestic The atre next Monday night.

The picture has had a sensational engagement at the Cosmopolitan Theatre, New York, where it has been hailed by press and public as one of the great screen master pieces.

The action of Paul Leicester Ford's popular novel covers the entire period of the American Revolution and no effort has been spared to make the production a vivid and authentic reproduction of those stirring days.

The role of Janice Meredith is particularly congenial one to Miss Davies, affording her an even wider dramatic scope than she had in "Yolanda," "Little Old New York" and "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

More than 5,000 persons appear in "Janice Meredith." The entire 26th Infantry, U. S. A., and more than 100 cowboys from Fort Ethan Allen took part.

In support of Miss Davies are Lionel Barrymore, Holmes Herbert, Marilyn Arbuckle, Harrison Ford, George Nash, Spencer Charters, W. C. Fields and other famous players.

NEW MURDER NEAR KATZ KILLING SCENE

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—U. S. Secret Service Agent Allen R. Hamilton, real estate operator, was found murdered here today under circumstances similar to the killing of Harry L. Rothschild, and the two dealers, Rothschild's body was found in a street not far from the apartment where he was killed.

500 ARE DEAD IN QUAKE IN BATAVIA

London, Nov. 17.—Earth tremors are continuing in Batavia, where dozens of villages have been destroyed and 500 killed.

Old volcanic craters believed extinct have renewed activity and are adding to the terror of the homeless thousands.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be overcome, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The prompt relief is almost magical. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (from any druggist) and plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more reliable, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant children like it.

You can feel this take hold immediately, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a tight, hard cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is unsurpassed for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FIGHTS HER WAY TILL SHE GETS 'THE BIG IDEA'

School Teacher Who Wanted to Do Things Now Leading Insurance Agent

She took a personal inventory of herself. That is why Miss Corinne V. Lovell is considered one of the leading insurance women of Boston today.

For a year she taught school, busily grooming boys and girls the rudiments of the arts and their relation to life. It was an unsatisfying position. It consumed all her energy, sapped every bit of her vitality, and left her with little to show for it. Nothing.

So she started Miss Corinne V. Lovell thinking. Teaching was a good enough profession, she decided, for someone else, but not for her. Selling insurance was selling service, and with this field of work she invested her efforts. She started out in earnest. Walking from morning to night, vainly attempting to outline people of needed protection. The first year of her job her liabilities were greater than her assets. Materially they were, but the spiritual satisfaction she derived therefrom made up for all the swollen feet and sleepless nights.

SEARCH REWARDED.

She searched for the interpretation of success. What was it and how did you get it. She looked for it in the dictionary and then in herself. Finally she hit upon this definition and she kept to it all those years.

"Success is a tribune," she wrote in her mind, "it is the ability to make money added to opportunities for self-improvement added to service to your fellow being."

With this her guide, she went out the next year and sold more insurance than any of her fellow-agents. It was a hard game, but the harder it came the better she liked it. She increased her amount of sales and number of applications until today she is listed only with those men who sell insurance by the hundred thousands.

SUCCESS GOSPEL

Her gospel for success in any work consists of the following:

"We have no one to blame but ourselves for anything, so don't alibi.

"Put the hard pedal on the positive stuff. Refuse to believe the worst of anyone at any time. Always believe that his intentions are of the best.

"Never make a decision on an empty stomach.

"If your engine isn't working properly find out if it has had a square deal. For instance, see if it had enough sleep and the right kind of food in the last twenty-four hours.

"Never run away with the idea that argument will sell anything. It will alienate and make the person buy of someone else.

ASKS PARENTS TO RECLAIM CHILD

GLADYS FOY

DESERTED, GIRL IN HOSPITAL SIX YEARS

Salem, Nov. 12.—Miss S. V. Hilbert, supervisor of the Victoria Hospital, is again appealing through the Boston American to the parents of little Gladys Foy to come and take her away.

This is the last appeal Miss Hilbert is going to make, she declares, if this is not acted upon by the parents of Gladys the little girl will be given to the State and will be farmed out or given in adoption to some family.

The story of Gladys is pretty well known now throughout New England. She is the little girl whose mother and father left her nearly six years ago at the Victoria Hospital for treatment. Since then Gladys has remained at the hospital and her parents have never returned to see her. For three years they paid her expenses; then stopped. Each Christmas they send a big box of toys and candy to Gladys, but she is now asking for her mother rather than the candy.

Miss Hulbert declares that she will take no responsibility of the child any longer, and unless the parents come she will give the child away right after Christmas.

R.R. SERVICE COLLAPSES ON FIRST COLD DAY

The New Haven Railroad train service suffered its annual collapse from the first extreme cold of the season today.

Thousands of commuters reached the South Station late as the road's locomotive equipment, always hit hard by severe cold, staggered in with little regard for scheduled time.

New Haven trains through Forest Hills and Back Bay averaged 14 minutes late. Those over the South Braintree-Quincy tracks averaged eight minutes behind schedule. On the Milford Division service was normal.

All through trains from New York, Pittsburgh and Washington were late as a result of a serious fire at Devon, Ct. The railroad's chart shows the following record:

Mail train due 8:50—2h. 25m. late.
Second section—2h. 45m late.
New York train due 6:20—2h. 16m. late.
Second section—2h. 41m late.
"Owl" due 1:38—1h. 21m. late.
Federal Express—1h. 23m. late.
Pittsburgh Express—15 minutes late.

The high wind blew down a roller coaster at Sandy Beach, snarling the railroad tracks between Tiverton R. I. and Ferry street station in Fall River, and tying up several trains from Fall River to Newport, which also serve suburbanites living nearer Boston.

The Fall River post train was 38 minutes late, and the train from Newport, due at 8:09, was one hour and seven minutes late. Another from Newport was eighteen minutes behind time.

Motorist Robbed of $63

New London, Conn., Nov. 17.—Three men with pistols held up Clayton E. Smith of Colchester, near Lisbon, ordered him from his car and after robbing him of $63, fled.

LAWSON TWINS LIKE NEW MOTHER

ARNOLD, JR., THE "NEW BOSS," AND THOMAS, 2D

The two boys attended their father when he took society by surprise and married Ethel Miller of Milton. The two daughters, Vera and Jean, were also present. As soon as the honeymoon is over all will go to the new home at Selfridge, "The Nest," built by Grandpa Thomas for his wife, and which is being remodeled. At present Milton is the Lawson home town.

WORKED AS CLERK TO AID HIM

Lynn Girl, Married After High School Romance, Asks for Divorce

Contributing to her husband's college expenses while she worked as a clerk at $12 a week was more than Mrs. Gladys B. Mills of Lynn could stand.

An attractive girl of twenty-three, Mrs. Mills told her story to Judge White in Salem Probate Court. She seeks a divorce from Herbert F. Mills, former Brown and Boston University student.

HIGH SCHOOL ROMANCE.

When the present Mrs. Mills was a senior at a Lynn high school five years ago, she eloped with Mills, who had just graduated from the same school. They went to live with her parents at No. 127 Timson street, Lynn. Mills soon enrolled at Brown University.

"I loved him and he loved me and used to come home every week-end," said Mrs. Mills. "I worked as clerk in a shoe factory and gave music lessons in the evening. For over a year I kept contributing to my husband, often as much as $25 at a time.

"Finally I could no stand things that way, and I talked to him about giving up school and going to work. He refused and ever since that I have only seen him occasionally on the street."

CHARGES DESERTION.

Mills, who is twenty-three, left Brown after his sophomore year and entered Boston University night school, working days. Even this, according to his wife, did not cause a reconciliation. She alleges desertion.

Mills' father testified that he contributed a great deal to his son's college fees and understood that his son supported himself in part by working at a Providence hotel while attending Brown.

Mrs. Mills who before her marriage was Gladys Burnett, is well known as a singer in Lynn.

MODERN WIVES LAZY, ASSERTS MISS SPEARE

The cause of marriage failures is that wives have too much leisure time, according to Miss Dorothy Speare, noted author of three best sellers and champion of the modern ickle flapper, who leaves legitimate matrimonial adventure tonight.

Miss Speare, who is a Newton Centre girl, is to become the bride of Frank B. Christmas, operatic singer after a honeymoon in this country and Europe she will sing in grand opera with her husband in Milan, Italy.

"The modern woman has too much leisure, and that's what is wrong with marriage nowadays" declared Miss Speare.

"The devil finds work for idle hands to do. In our grandmothers' day, women had no time to devote to interests outside the home. Nearly everything consumed in the house had to be made at home and most of the work fell to the lot of the wife.

TOO MUCH FREEDOM.

"Today, on the contrary, nearly everything is done outside the household and the wife is relieved of most of the responsibilities. She is free to let her thoughts and fancy roam.

"As a result—as one of my characters said in my second book, 'The Day Year'—ninety-nine out of a hundred young married women who still keep themselves up, sling on the rouge and wield the marcel iron and all the rest of the battle array, are still on the war path.

"The war is with friend husband, the path's to other men! I don't mean the old triangle stuff. It's got on to be a polygon.

"Of course, if a young married woman can direct her interest toward a career, that is bound to keep her as busy as her grandmother was. But, as I have written, a woman cannot succeed unless her husband is soulfully sympathetic with her work.

"This brings us to the offensive career problem that woman faces—matrimony or a career. I believe that either one is commendable. But both are impossible, unless the husband is a professional man and absolutely in sympathy with his wife's professional career.

"An actress, for example, should not marry a business man. While she is travelling he is kept at home by his business affairs. That ever spells hopelessness, Child.

"But a mutual star married to her husband can make an ideal arrangement. Nothing harms a husband and wife so much as disharmony as does a common career in their work. For no matter how much they love each other, disharmony has a terrible tearing, for we will sing from the same stanza, we will harmonize in whole and in life.

WINGS UNCLIPPED

"Marriage clips your wings? I spoke in Vaudeville in the Duke. I took eleven bows before curtain time before you have had enough of such praise. A girl starts in a new career, flying by an early marriage—with wings unclipped.

"Marriage will not clip my wings, but it will enable me to work more for the career. I believe my beauty is what I have written that marriage does who don't work and is thought for the ordinary young wife must not expect to find her husband's equal. But my husband is a girl has been confined to following my career.

"I am marrying just as I am about to embark on a second career that of singing, and since my husband is an opera singer and in accord with my ambitions, I think we are going to be immensely happy.

'Rudy' Gives Whisker Party as Farewell to New York

New York, Nov. 17.—It was the first of its kind, but a great success, this whisker party given by Rudolph Valentino at the Ritz Saturday night.

The invitations were not so worded, but the real reason, it is believed, for the dinner-dance celebration was to show off Rudy's new chin adornment, as well as to say good-by to his whiskers before sailing for Hollywood and more movies. He leaves Tuesday.

LAWSON TO GET BACK RAREST TREASURES

Once more the most valued treasures of Thomas W. Lawson, once "Copper King," are going back to Lawsonwold—but this time with a new mother.

These treasures are not the finest elephants or other exotic figurines auctioned at the great hall two years ago.

They are Tom Lawson's grandmother, idols of his eye, the children of Arnold Lawson, who has angered society by marrying Miss Ethel Barbara Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lawson Miller of Milton.

On March 8, 1921, Lawson was cracked a divorce from Mrs. Lucy Shaw Mitchell Lawson, now Mrs. Jones Blake. Then a fight for the four children began, ending with four custody being given to Arnold, working at a $30 a week job as auto salesman.

They were awarded by Judge Fessenden because he felt, he said, "they will prefer the auto, though exciting life, with their father, to the artificial, more and more stratified life with the mother."

But now the four children—Joan, 17, Vera, 16, and the 10-year-old twins, Arnold and Thomas—have a new mother.

And what is just as exciting, they will return to Broomhold, place of their happiest moments, where every luxury afforded by the millions of Tom Lawson was showered on them by their doting grandfather.

Arnold and his bride are now on their honeymoon, but when they return and when repairs have been completed at "The Nest," the "Copper King's" early colonial cottage hidden in a Dreamwold grove, the Lawson family will move down to Selfridge once more.

No four other than that of Tom Lawson, his wife who died in 1907 and an occasional servant, ever trod the opulent boards in the "Nest" during Lawson's heyday.

The quaint cottage was sacred to the couple as a retreat from modernity and the buffetings of the dollar scramble in Wall Street and State street.

WORK FOR BIG PLANT AT HOLYOKE

Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 17.—The Farr Alpaca Company, the city's largest industry, today went on a schedule of 75 per cent. of full time. For some time the company has been operating 70 per cent. for three weeks of each months alternating with a practical shut down the fourth week. The fourth week shutdown is now eliminated.

10 PER CENT. WAGE CUT IN PEPPERELL, YORK MILLS

Biddeford, Me., Nov. 17.—Notices were posted in the plant of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, this city, and the York Manufacturing Company, at Saco, today, announcing that a ten per cent. wage reduction will go into effect Monday next. This will affect 2,100 employes in Saco, and 3,800 in this city.

ASKS SMALL EXPLAIN ABOUT INTEREST MONEY

Springfield, Ills., Nov. 17 (I.N.S.)—Ordering of an accounting by Governor Len Small, Brigill on interest money earned by State funds in his hands while he was State treasurer was recommended in a report submitted to the Sangamon County Circuit Court today by Master in Chancery C. G. Briggle.

GREECE PROTESTS TO BULGARIA ON KILLINGS

Athens, Nov. 17 (I.N.S.)—Relations between Greece and Bulgaria were strained following the assassination of a number of Greeks at Stanimaka, Bulgaria. The Greek government dispatched a stern note to Bulgaria and received a promise the assassins would be punished.

BIG COLLEGE GRID COACHES HEADED FOR CHOPPING BLOCK

BAD YEAR FOR BOYS AT TOP

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

According to the best advices as many as a half dozen coaches of leading colleges may find themselves beheaded at the end of the present football season.

Foremost among the alleged candidates for the guillotine is Bob Folwell of the Naval Academy, because his is the most exacting post in football.

The writer recently concluded a flying trip through the Middle West and there he learned from authoritative sources that two of the big ten coaches were due to go.

The names of Spaulding of Minnesota and Jack Ryan of Wisconsin were mentioned. Neither had a successful season, although Ryan can point to indifferent material as the answer. Spaulding, however, is allowed to have had fair enough prospects at the start of the season.

FOLWELL NOT TOO STRONG.

As for Folwell, it is known that the Navy's dissatisfaction antedates the present campaign. He has had good teams during his regime of five years at Annapolis and has more than held his own with the Army but football men have short memories. It has been said with some justice, that Folwell's teams have lacked the punch and there one has the thrust on the Navy. They have won, for the most part, but they are not satisfied.

When a man graduates from a university, he plunges into business and remembers his football days only when the big gamesc come on. A naval officer has only two real interests, namely, the Navy itself and his football team. A civilian coach sits in a tough spot there.

The resignation of Bill Roper at Princeton has been mentioned from time to time as an accepted fact, yet the latter expects to be back on the job next Fall, thereby agreeing with the gentleman himself.

ROPER WELL ON THE JOB.

In a recent conversation, I mentioned his impending withdrawal and received the following answer: "Don't be too sure of that. I like football and coaching too much to drop out like that without giving the matter further consideration."

Princeton will see that Roper's "consideration" is a favorable one. In fact, I think he is making use of the situation to step up his team for the big games by making his young men to "make his last year a good one." He did that before the Harvard game last week.

Whether Columbia will care to string along with Dr. Paul Withington is another season is a question. Columbia wants a big figure to replace the late Percy Haughton and while Dr. Withington is a big man, it is not certain that he will be retained, unless his team shows something very good in the remaining games.

RECORD CROWD TO ATTEND CAL.-STANFORD GAME

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 17.—The biggest crowd in the history of American football is expected to see the game between the University of California and Stanford University at the Memorial Stadium here on next Saturday. It is estimated that fully 75,000 rooters will be present. Capacity was sold.

The previous record, he said, was made in the Yale Bowl, where a crowd of 80,000 witnessed one game.

The Stadium proper will accommodate 76,000, with the erection of additional bleachers. In addition a large section of Memorial Field, overlooking the stadium, has been roped off and provision has been made for 12,000 within this enclosure.

POLY WRESTLERS OPEN SEASON WITH STEVENS

New York, Nov. 17.—With practically the entire 1923 wrestling team intact for this season's schedule, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute will go through its meets with high hopes for a successful mat year. The schedule:

December 6, Stevens at home; 10, C. C. N. Y. at home.

January 3, Columbia away; 31, R. P. I. away.

February 27, Brown away.

March 7, Syracuse at home; 12, Franklin and Marshall away; 14, Penn State away.

Pending—Lafayette at home; Norwich at home.

Grid Games Fear Penn

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Penn will meet both Illinois and Chicago at Franklin Field next year under a home-and-run arrangement. The date for the contest with Chicago tentatively has been fixed for October 24 and that with Illinois one week later.

VAN KEMPEN SIGNS FOR SIX-DAY RACE

New York, Nov. 17.—Pete Van Kempen, Holland bike rider and looked upon as the fastest cyclist in the world on an indoor track, has accepted Manager John Chapman's terms by cable to compete in the New York six-day race and will soon sail for America.

Van Kempen is only 25 years old and has been competing in Europe at Summer, only riding once a week. Van Kempen a couple of years ago won the Garden grind paired with Oscar Egg and he expects to come out victorious in this one.

Dr. Gaw to Coach Boston U. 6

BABY RACERS FEATURE AT BOWIE

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—The juvenile class of the Fair is in the $7,500 Endurance Handicap, a dash of one mile, for two-year-olds exclusively, that will be renewed at Prince George's Park, Bowie, November 29, as the feature of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association's get away day card.

There are sixty-eight eligibles all told, and among the most prominent are Master Charlie, winner of Spirals of the Hopeful and Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes; Beatrice, winner of the Champagne at Belmont Park; Mother Goose, winner of the $75,000 Futurity; Pack Futurity; Sunny Man, winner of the Whirl, United States and Saratoga Special revivals; By Princely, winner of the Ardsley Handicap; Stimulus, winner of the Maryland Futurity, and Ringlefoot, winner of the Aberdeen-Pimlico Nursery and Eastern Shore Handicap.

Possibly Master Charlie, which has earned nearly $85,000, and is the biggest juvenile money getter of the season, will not get to the post. The imported son of Lord Archer was one after running second to Stimulus Saturday of the second of the Maryland Jockey Club's aerial weight for age races, a dash of seven-eighths of a mile, which he was beaten by Sun Flag, he beating Zev and Prince of Orsola. Andrew Godfrey Blakely, his trainer, announced that he would scratch for the race. But Master Charlie has been lame in the past and Blakely does not like to take chances. He may do that again. It is significant that Master Charlie is an Endurance eligibee.

ORIOLES TO TRAIN WITH MACKMEN IN FLORIDA

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—The Baltimore International baseball club is trying to make arrangements for the Orioles and the Athletics to train close together in Florida next spring.

Jack Dunn, owner of the Orioles, announces that the two teams will play a series of games there and on the way North.

DICK KERR ASKS REINSTATEMENT

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Dick Kerr, pitching hero of the 1919 World Series, has applied for reinstatement in baseball and if Commissioner Landis will permit the game's southpaw to return to the White Sox.

Refused an increase after the 1919 series, Kerr has been playing independent ball.

To Head Women Golfers

New York, Nov. 17.—Mrs. R. Percy Thompson of Sleepy Hollow Country Club, Westchester Metropolitan Golf Association next year. Miss has been nominated by the Selection Committee and the formality of her election will be gone through when the various delegates gather at the Hotel Biltmore for their annual meeting on December 4.

Wilson Joins Squad

Curt Wilson, outfielder of the champion baseball team, reported at Spartanburg, the second of the season, and helped Coach Joe Dowling into the squad of eighteen candidates who were on hand. This scene an increase of nine over the first day.

Doyle to Box Harmon

New York, Nov. 17.—The Pioneer Sporting Club will hold forth next snow Tuesday, with Willie Harmon and Paul Doyle, oval East Side welterweights, meeting in the feature event of twelve rounds. This will be a return match between Harmon and Doyle, who clashed last Spring in the Pioneer ring.

EVERETT STOCK DROPS AFTER MALDEN WIN

A light week is in prospect in schoolboy grid circles. One is due after the upsets of the week-end, during which several dizzy results were turned in to match the turmoil in collegiate circles.

East Boston and Charlestown were due to clash today at Braves Field, English High and Commerce will fight it out on the same gridiron tomorrow. But neither encounter will have much effect on league results.

Just when it seemed Everett was headed for State honors and a clean slate, Malden came along with an exceptionally deceptive attack and smothered the Brickley eleven unmercifully. The result had no effect on the Suburban League standing, but must have unsettled Everett so sadly Cambridge Latin will win the Thanksgiving Day battle, allowing Medford to slide in another championship.

Medford can now look forward to a nice trouncing at Malden's hands on that same turkey day.

Cambridge Latin took one on the nose when a try-for-point after touchdown failed, giving Medford a 7 to 6 margin. It was mighty close for Medford, as the victory put them in a tie with Everett.

The score indicated that Bridge Tech walked all over Newton, but nothing like that happened. Newton was headed almost certainly for a touchdown when a fumble was recovered for a Bridge touchdown. That broke Newton's heart and put the team out of the Suburban running.

Exeter finished with a 10 to 8 victory over Andover for the so-called prep championship of New England. Coming now weeks to meet St. John's on a neutral field, Cushing College, Colby Academy, while St. John's hooked the Holy Cross Freshmen. Both are well-matched teams.

ROY MACK APPOINTED PORTLAND MANAGER

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Roy Mack, son of Connie Mack, manager and part owner of the Athletics, has been named business manager of the Portland Club of the Pacific Coast League.

Thomas L. Turner, former scout for the Athletics, recently purchased the Coast League club with the aid of financial backing by John D. Shibe, vice-president of the Athletics.

Run-out Powders

BY JACK CONWAY

Paul Berlenbach was matched to fight Young Marullo, a puncher of parts from New Orleans, at Madison Square Garden. But he developed a sore hand or something a few days ago and stepped out of the match.

The Garden officials waxed furious. A good card was killed right there.

Someone asked Matchmaker Flournoy why he didn't collect Berlenbach's forfeit. Then it was revealed that the Astoria Assassin hadn't been required to post one. The Garden management had only a "verbal agreement" with him.

If the Garden does business that way, what a sweet and easy time the run-out boys will have this Winter!

What Is Color?

Georgie Burns release from the feds and his probable passing from the major leagues brings up this question: What constitutes color in baseball?

Georgie has played major league baseball for twelve years. He was the Giants' star outfielder for ten years. He spent two with Garry Herrman in Cincinnati. In all his years in the big show he has never been ordered out of a game by an umpire.

And yet Burns was one of the most colorful players in the game. He was always a favorite with the New York fans, the basis on color in players. When he was sent down the river in the trade that brought Heinie Groh to the Giants, the squawks of the fans were long and loud. There were many wreaths or raspberries, too. But they were all sent to McGraw for selling him.

As a rule it is the Raymonds, the Waddells and the Casey Stengels who monopolize the color. The retreating figure of a Casey walking off the field after being "chased," the antics of the "Rube," the unreliability of "Rugs" and the argumentativeness of the Shockers—those are the things which ordinarily lend color to the game.

When a gentle-mannered player like Burns manages to gain a place among the most colorful players of all time it indicates that sheer personality is color in itself. Or perhaps Burns is the exception which proves the rule.

MONTGOMERY IS TO TAKE ON ANDERSON

Matchmaker Bob McKirdy of the Commercial Club has arranged an all-star card for it's next show, which will be held at Mechanics building on Friday night. In the wind-up, Colonel Bob will show Cliff Montgomery, former Centre College football star, swapping punches with Lee Anderson, colored heavyweight from Berlin, N. H.

Anderson has displayed his wares to the Boston fight fans and is a rugged mixer. Anderson knocked out Kid Norfolk at Phoenix, Ariz., in nine rounds; knocked out Tiger Flowers, Juarez, Mex., in seven rounds; Sam Langford, at Omaha, in five rounds, and Bill Tate at East Chicago, in four rounds.

Montgomery is the latest sensation in the heavyweight ranks. Ten days ago, in the wind-up at Madison Square Garden, he held Romero Rojas even.

A DECADE with DODGE BROTHERS

Today and throughout this week the Henshaw Motor Co. celebrates its Tenth Anniversary with Dodge Brothers.

This business has grown until today it is one of the largest retail automobile organizations in New England.

We are naturally proud of our present size because we believe it proves two things:

First: That the principles upon which we conducted our business from the beginning were sound.

Second: That the people appreciated the fact that we were trying to render them a real service.

Looking forward into another decade we hope for further healthy, steady growth on the solid ground-work of service the past decade has trained us to render.

Special Inspection Week—Every Dodge Brothers car which has been in service for any length of time will be carefully inspected.

Some repairs and adjustments will be made at nominal cost. Other repairs and adjustments will be made at reduced prices.

Cut-Open chassis will be on exhibition prepared for this occasion by the Factory Engineering Department, showing the [illegible] closed body with [illegible] exposed.

75 Resale Cars [illegible] models—10 different makes [illegible] priced.

Music—Today from 2 P. M. to 5 P. M. —Open Evenings.

NORA LEE

Heart and Soul of 1924 Flapper Laid Bare in Best Story by Author of "Chickie"

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he struck his hand to his two-year-old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora at 17 fell in love with Dane Herrick. Andrew's wife recovers and attacks him with a pistol. He says good by to Nora Lee and gives her a packet of bonds. Andrew is killed in an auto accident, and his widow demands the bonds of Nora. Nora meets Maxwell Reed, who makes love to her. Margaret's cherished letters from Andrew disappear. Nora bids Dane goodby.

ANSWER TO FRIDAY'S

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

VERY little is known of the interior of the Libyan Desert, and for a very good reason. The natives are very jealous of their land and protect it with all their might from intrusion.

However, the information that has seeped out reveals a life as fascinating as any we know.

Siwa, which is one of the oldest as well as most prosperous of the oases of the Libyan Desert, is built up mostly on the hilltop. This was a measure of defense in the days when the desert was invaded by marauding Bedouins. But now Siwa is a very peaceful spot, well inside the territory of Egypt.

The chief occupation of the village is the cultivation of dates, but the natives also grow olive trees and extract the oil. The dates of Siwa are famous throughout the world. And it is in Siwa that one finds a very curious manifestation of the communistic spirit.

Everybody, rich and poor alike, brings all his dates, good and bad, and puts them in great piles. No man would dare touch the dates of another man's heap, for it would bring bad luck.

On the other hand, any stranger or poor man may come and eat as much as he likes of the best quality of dates. But he is not allowed to take any away with him. Because of this no one starves in Siwa.

The women have a peculiar way of fixing their hair that, at first sight, seems much like our fashionable "bob." When they are children their hair is plaited in innumerable fine strands. These plaits are never combed out, the hair is simply built on as it grows in. Occasionally the locks are oiled, but this is the extent of their trouble in the matter of coiffure. Think what a saving of time this would mean to our more civilized young ladies.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney, Boston Health Commissioner.

Dr. M. Mahoney

YOUR personal devotion to strong likes or dislikes with respect to their food. These likes and dislikes are often more whims or blind prejudices to reasonably grounded aversions.

In certain extreme cases, the dislikes of certain articles of food has developed into a rejected list amounting to a very great deal of very little that is valuable for the child's nutrition.

In certain cases the interference with health and growth has become really serious and has necessitated the attention of physicians.

In the majority of such instances, the inability to [illegible] can be attributed to some disturbance of the stomach, of the intestines or of the general system.

Without proper examination this is found to be true. The fact becomes the intelligent beginning point for correction.

In very many instances, however, there is no such physical disturbance and the child's dislike for certain foods is examined by so-called mental attitude.

The reason for these objects to particular, common foods as you know is variable in every child and furnish a problem without concern. They are born that way.

When the habit has once developed, your mother cannot reach and control it. Your mother cannot reach and control your mind sufficiently to correct it. The only way open to you is to go back to the method by which the habit was originally established in the development of the baby, simply ignoring food and not let it go out. If you offer it to him, don't urge him, or whining food. Then when hunger overcomes him, as him have the food he needs.

If you notice a becoming dislike for some food, don't force it upon him, but proceed by strategy. Dress it up some other way.

QUESTION & ANSWER

I am a sailor and since have had a severe pain in my back at the top of my lungs. Where can I get treatment?

You are entitled to free treatment at the Chelsea Marine Hospital and I would advise you to apply there for examination and X-ray examination. If you cannot get to Chelsea, or if you prefer to go elsewhere, I would advise you to consult a physician, as the pain in the back may be due to some uterine trouble which can be cured, and will cause the disappearance of your symptoms.

Is there any way that I can be sure that I am not suffering from a dangerous form of heart disease? I have all sorts of queer symptoms around my heart. MRS. T. A.
Boston.

The only way for you to make sure of your physical condition is to have a thorough physical examination at the hands of a family physician at some good out-patient department dispensary.

My hair is very thin. Please tell me what to do for it. M. J.
Cambridge.

Use your finger tips to do this. Pinch the scalp up so that it is put loose on your head. Tight scalp interferes with the circulation to the roots of the hair.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Business is improving. The writer expects it to continue to improve.

* * *

Developments in the business world have been overshadowed, to the financial spectacular, editorial on the New York Stock Exchange—an outburst only once before equalled. Radiotrons "ex-rights" shares sold more than 100 points above the ex-rights quotation by experienced traders were buying freely since November 4. Railroad shares have been more favored. But speculators are also receiving favorable advices from time to time. Petroleum and others should receive new impetus from the approaching annual meeting of the directors.

Continued growth of confidence in the general trade situation has been evidenced in Boston and the rest of New England during the past week.

Textile operations, both cotton and woolen, have increased, the major mills being that the great Amoskeag mills at Manchester, N. H., were resuming the capacity production as soon as possible.

Shoe manufacturers report orders greatly stimulated.

Clothing activity has been needed to freshen the retail men's clothing trade, and also to benefit other seasonal lines.

Car loadings continue to run high with records set by numerous railways.

The stock market, shooting upward in geyser fashion, has had a refreshing effect in enabling many concerns, whose interest in the market as an indicator and forecaster has grown fast in the past few years, to regain their poise. Also the individual business man "plays" or does not "play" the market.

The public has not seemed to be attention it had months. The public question is: does the stock market's action indicate a boom or a bubble?

Readers of this column know that the writer feels that fundamentally the foundation for greater prosperity has been under way for months.

Better business is already here.

* * *

Before we are opened compre-hensive records of last week's significant and important lodge-ments financial, agricultural, commercial and non-fair developments. What do they mean?

Discernment has made headway.

There were all more advances and only an isolated setback during the week.

Demand for stocks of all sorts had increased, causing an advance in the industry's index into the first time in years.

On exports among the last ten months have expanded more than $100,000,000, while imports have declined $50,000,000. Our favorable balance for month alone reached $247,000,000. Figures similarly encouraging appear in the case of the heaviest shipments of cotton ever made in any one month.

Sterling has practically the high set point reached in April 1920, and the other principal foreign exchanges are also doing better, notwithstanding Europe's enlarged buying.

* * *

All indications are that business will do six months brighter than in December, 1924, by B. C. Forbes.

CONFIDENCE IN TRADE GROWS DURING WEEK

Geyser Rise of Stock Market Has Had Psychological Effect on Business

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

Continued growth of confidence in the general trade situation has been evidenced in Boston and the rest of New England during the past week.

Textile operations, both cotton and woolen, have increased, the major mills being that the great Amoskeag mills at Manchester, N. H., were resuming the capacity production as soon as possible.

Shoe manufacturers report orders greatly stimulated.

Clothing activity has been needed to freshen the retail men's clothing trade, and also to benefit other seasonal lines.

Car loadings continue to run high with records set by numerous railways.

The stock market, shooting upward in geyser fashion, has had a refreshing effect in enabling many concerns, whose interest in the market as an indicator and forecaster has grown fast in the past few years, to regain their poise. Also the individual business man "plays" or does not "play" the market.

The public has not seemed to be attention it had months. The public question is: does the stock market's action indicate a boom or a bubble?

Readers of this column know that the writer feels that fundamentally the foundation for greater prosperity has been under way for months.

Better business is already here.

* * *

Before we are opened compre-hensive records of last week's significant and important lodge-ments financial, agricultural, commercial and non-fair developments. What do they mean?

Discernment has made headway.

There were all more advances and only an isolated setback during the week.

Demand for stocks of all sorts had increased, causing an advance in the industry's index into the first time in years.

On exports among the last ten months have expanded more than $100,000,000, while imports have declined $50,000,000. Our favorable balance for month alone reached $247,000,000. Figures similarly encouraging appear in the case of the heaviest shipments of cotton ever made in any one month.

Sterling has practically the high set point reached in April 1920, and the other principal foreign exchanges are also doing better, notwithstanding Europe's enlarged buying.

* * *

All indications are that business will do six months brighter than in December, 1924, by B. C. Forbes.

HARVARD SEES BETTERMENT

"Economic conditions are favorable to generally satisfactory business during the first half of 1925. Steady improvement is now in prospect. The appearance of a characterized by capacity operations in manufacturing industry, sharply rising commodity prices, though possible, seems at this time to be improbable," says Harvard Economic Service.

"A boom would be an unfavorable rather than a favorable development because it would be short-lived, unless it were encouraged by the policy of inflation. If over-expansion is threatened, we should certainly see a determined effort to check it before the danger point is reached.

"With the Presidential election over, an element of uncertainty has been eliminated from the business situation. European conditions seem definitely on the mend, even though economic improvement continues to be gradual. In the United States, retardation is emerging from the mere depression; and therefore the outlook for the first half of 1925 is distinctly favorable."

Wall St. Gossip

CARNEGIE Steel Company will increase its iron output several hundred tons daily next Thursday when another blast furnace will be blown in at Farrell Works.

SALES OF Coca Cola Company thus far this year are reported to be ahead of 1923, when they exceed-ed $24,000,000.

GREAT NORTHERN'S net operating income for October will approximate $5,500,000, largest monthly net in the history of the road.

MOTOR WHEEL Corp. for nine months ended Sept. 30, 1924, reports net of $1,496,000 after taxes, an increase of $360,000 over same period of 1923.

RECENT STRENGTH in Pure Oil shares is attributed to improved earning position.

PRICE TREND UPWARD IN NEW YORK

While volume of trading on the New York Stock Exchange today was back to a normal basis, the most active movement continued upward.

Speculative interest centered in public utility, motor and motor accessory shares, which were conspicuous among the two dozen new 1924 high records established before noon.

Considerable profit-taking was again in evidence in several sections of the list, but the offerings were unusually well absorbed. New investor crowded out from time to time in the specialty list. Advance Rumely preferred stock 3¾ points to a new maximum price for the year.

Good buying also was noted in the Wabash Railroad issues, Louisville & Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line. General Electric was the outstanding individual feature, soaring 7¾ points above Saturday's close.

Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading, Warren Bros. duplicated its years' high. Boston Elevated, up another point, set a fresh top on the current move.

FILM the worst enemy to teeth

You can feel it with your tongue

The charm of your smile depends upon the clean, pearly brightness of white teeth

Now Find Out

what beauty is beneath the dingy film that clouds your teeth

Note how simple it really is to have the clear, glistening teeth you envy in others—for health's sake and for beauty, you must remove that film, say world's dental authorities. Send the coupon, make this unique test

MODERN science has found a new way to healthier teeth; to whiter, clearer teeth. Now, as an international movement, the people of some 50 different nations are being offered a 10-day test.

Won't you mail the coupon below? Then see for yourself what as little as 10 days of modern dental hygiene will do for you.

Your teeth may be cloudy—film-covered, discolored. If your present dentifrice fails to cope with that situation, it is surely worth while to try, at least, another way.

That stubborn film—how it makes teeth ugly and invites tooth troubles and decay. You must remove it

Look at your teeth. If dull, cloudy, run your tongue across them. You will feel a film. That's the cause of the trouble. You must remove it regularly. It is ever present, ever forming.

Film is that viscous coat that you feel. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It hides the natural luster of your teeth.

It also holds food substance which ferments and causes acid. In contact with teeth, this acid invites decay. Millions of germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So dull and dingy teeth mean more than loss of good appearance. They may indicate danger, grave danger to your teeth.

New methods now that mean greater tooth beauty plus better protection from tooth troubles

Ordinary tooth pastes were unable to cope adequately with that film. Not one could effectively combat it. Harsh grit tended to injure the enamel. Soap and chalk were inadequate.

Now modern dental science has found two new combatants. Their action is to curdle film and then harmlessly remove it. They are embodied in a new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent—a scientific method that is changing the tooth cleansing habits of the world.

To millions this new way has proved the folly of having dull and dingy teeth. The folly of inviting tooth troubles when their chief cause can be combated.

Make this test Remember, every time you eat, food clings to your teeth. Film is constantly forming. The film that ruins teeth; that mars their luster, makes them look dingy and dull. "For health's sake and beauty's sake, remove it three times daily," says leading dental authority.

This new way removes and combats it in scientific safety—it will give you the lustrous teeth you envy—quickly.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—November 17, 1924

A paper for the family—Reliable, entertaining, fearless.

A Mother's Work and Her Hopes

This editorial is not written for women. It is written for MEN, and for boys; for the millions who fail to appreciate the work that mothers do, for the millions that ignore the self-sacrifice and devotion upon which society is based.

On a hot night, in the dusty streets of a dirty city, you see hundreds of women sitting in the doorways, TAKING CARE OF BABIES.

In lonesome farmhouses, far out on monotonous plains, with the late sun setting on a long day of hard work, you find women, cheerful and persevering, TAKING CARE OF BABIES.

In the middle of the night, in earliest morning, when MEN sleep all over the world, in ice huts North, in Southern tents, in big houses and in dingy tenements, you find women awake, cheerfully and gladly TAKING CARE OF BABIES.

We respect and praise the man selfishly working for himself.

If he builds up a great industry and a great personal fortune, we praise him.

If he risks his life for personal glory and for praise, we praise him.

If he shows courage even in saving his own carcass from destruction, we praise him.

There was never a man whose courage, or devotion, could be compared with that of a woman caring for her baby.

The mother's love is unselfish, and it has no limit this side of the grave.

You will find ONE man in a thousand who will risk his life for a cause.

You will find a THOUSAND women in a thousand who will risk their lives for their babies.

Everything that a man has and is he owes to his mother. From her he gets health, brain, encouragement, moral character, and ALL his chances of success.

How poorly the mother's service is repaid by men individually, and by society as a whole!

The individual man feels that he has done much if he gives sufficient money and a LITTLE attention to her who brought him from nothingness into life and sacrificed her sleep and youth and strength for his sake.

Society, the aggregate of human beings, feels that its duty is done when a few hospitals are opened for poor mothers and a little medicine doled out in cold-hearted fashion to the sick child.

Fortunately, it may truly be said that the great man is almost always appreciative of his greater mother.

Napoleon was cold, jealous of other men, monumentally egotistical when comparing himself with other sons of women. But he reverenced and appreciated the noble woman who bore him, lived for him, and watched over him to the end. He said:

"It is to my mother, to her good principles, that I owe my success and all I have that is worth while. I do not hesitate to say that the future of the child depends on the mother."

The future of the individual child depends on the individual mother, and the future of the race depends on the mothers of the race.

Think what has been done for mankind by thousands of millions of perfectly devoted mothers.

Every mother is entirely DEVOTED, entirely HOPEFUL, entirely CONFIDENT that no future is too great for her baby's deserts.

What to Do With ZR-3?

Uncle Sam Is "Sewed Up."

Uncle Sam, whose highly intellectual representatives often make silly bargains, owns the ZR-3. But our dear European friends made us promise that the dirigible would never be used IN WAR. It seems silly for the Navy to have the great flying boat that it can't use.

Now the suggestion is made that the big Zeppelin be put to work regularly between New York and London in the effort to make it pay for its keep. Another suggestion is a trip to the North Pole. It is doubtful whether the air boat of that type is sufficiently developed to be of any real use EXCEPT in war. ZR-3 certainly could carry a big cargo of TNT or poison gas.

For the Old Man

Six Female Brains

Mrs. I. C. Clarke suggests the election of six women of brains to sit in that "old man's home," the Senate.

The Senate is not ENTIRELY "an old man's home." There is nothing old about Hiram Johnson, or Wheeler, of Montana; or La Follette, or Edwards, of New Jersey, and that can be said of many others.

But, generally speaking, the Senate would be made YOUNGER, more thoroughly ALIVE and 100 per cent. more USEFUL if it were made up of forty-eight men and forty-eight women, one man and one woman from each of the States.

A human being is not a man OR a woman. A complete human being is a combination of BOTH. Every legislative body should be half male and half female. The men would be spurred on to real work, and while that might be painful, it would be an excellent thing for the nation.

Adventure Straight Ahead

Whoever will start out and walk in a straight line will, sooner or later, be fording a river and climbing a cliff.

So, in life, the greatest adventure lies right before us. If you follow the line of duty the adventure will come. We do not have to go out of the way to find the unusual, for the unusual happens to us.

There is no life devoid of adventure. The thing to do is to be prepared for it when it comes.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

MIDDLE age, like tomorrow, is something which a woman never quite reaches, until she is way past it.

* * *

After a woman has just finished having a mud-pack and the newest trim to her "bob," it's an awful shock to her to have some man get up and respectfully offer her a seat in a street car.

Helen Rowland

Home-made biscuits were once supposed to hold a husband's love; but it takes something stronger than a flour-and-water paste to make a man stick these days.

* * *

The modern girl camouflages it with so much "pep" and applied enthusiasm, that you'd never suspect that she was simply "marking time" until she hears the strains of the wedding march.

* * *

Justice may be all you actually owe your husband; but what every man NEEDS from the woman who loves him is faith, hope, charity—and above all, MERCY.

* * *

A good wife and a good digestion are blessings that a man never stops to think about, unless they happen to bother him.

* * *

A woman never realizes how MUCH her husband means to her, until he goes away and she has to wait until he gets back to get the curtain rods up or the radio fixed.

* * *

A girl used to flatter herself that she had broken a man's heart; but, nowadays, she is satisfied if she can just manage to dent it a little, in a brand new place.

* * *

When a man closes the front door in a soft apologetic manner, instead of banging it after him like a victorious army, his wife knows intuitively that he is feeling remorse about SOMETHING.

* * *

Take away a flapper's vanity case and she could never in the world express herself.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

TODAY is spread, a waiting page without a mar, a blot, a stain; a leaf from out the book of time, a leaf no man may turn again. Those other leaves where-on we wrote the score of many a yesterday are sealed lest some would turn again to things forever passed away, and only Memory may read those pages of the long ago, where Youth's bright fancies ever burn, where Love's fair fountains ever flow. But still today lies waiting here, the page was turned when fresh winds blew and dawning came with rosy ray, a space unsullied, fair and new! Here's room for all things true and good, for all that's beautiful and wise, for shining dreams of those who seek to solve life's love-ly mysteries. Through all the eons passed away, so it has been in every age, and for all time the record lies inscribed on each omee stainless page. Nor, though a king would give his crown to change a word, erase a phrase, he could not turn the page again, it stands until the end of days. And so a brief, yet deathless thing, it finds your message grave or gay but, sad or glad, write brave, proud words upon time's waiting page, today.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

A small mistake may leave upon the mind the lasting memory of having been taunted for something censurable.

* * *

The gamesome, humor of children should rather be encouraged, to keep up their spirits and improve their strength and health, than curbed and restrained.

* * *

If we command our wishes we shall be rich and free. If our wealth commands us we are poor indeed.

Life is a long lesson in humanity.

Children Need Care

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if you can find someone to take care of my two children while I work, some place where I could also stay. I am trying to keep my two children with me if I can. I couldn't pay much a week, but I could help with the housework and then I can do all kinds of fancy work and sew. The children's ages are 2½ and 1¼. I am nineteen. MRS. M.

Cambridge.

Made Happy

Helping Hand Editor:

Please extend my thanks to Mrs. W. H. D., Revere, for the things she sent me. I can make good use of everything for myself and children. You can't imagine how happy it made me and such a help. Thank you also. MRS. M. B. J.

Boston.

Needs Bandages

Helping Hand Editor:

My mother has a very bad wound in her leg which has to be dressed several times a day. If any kind readers have pieces of white cloth that could be used as bandages I would be so glad to get them. MRS. D. C.

Gives Thanks

Helping Hand Editor:

I certainly have a world of thanks for the help you got for me through your column, and I wish you would thank Mrs. T. S., South Weymouth; Mrs. M. L. C., Mattapan; Gertrude M., Medford, and Mrs. J. D. L., Boston, and may God bless them and you for this generosity. J. N.

Mattapan Sanatorium.

Willing to Work

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a widow and need work. Would like to take care of an apartment for a few hours each day. MRS. N. S.

In Bed to Keep Warm

Helping Hand Editor:

We are very poor, mother, sister and I. Father has been dead for over three years, and mother has been in poor health since then. The city gives us $8 a week and a small grocery order, but we must pay rent, buy wood, etc. The other day we had to stay in bed mostly all day to keep warm. The city doesn't begin to give out the coal until Christmas. We have no underwear, and mother doesn't know where we will get any, as she can't buy anything, having no money. Dear Editor, it is terrible to be poor in Winter, when it is so cold. MAY O.

Receives Wheel Chair

Helping Hand Editor:

I received the wheel chair and am so grateful to the kind giver that I don't know how to express myself. As I do not know who sent it, please thank the party through your column. When I think of the kind giver my heart just seems to smother me. After three years of sickness in our family I was beginning to think no one cared if we got along or not. I sat up today, fifteen minutes—the first time in six months—and am looking forward to Christmas, as it will be the first one spent home in three years. The last three I spent in a sanatorium. CATHERINE A.

Would Buy Coats

Helping Hand Editor:

If someone would buy a high-chair and a stroller which I have, both in good condition—it would help me buy some Winter coats for my children. I will sell both for $10. Also my little boy, three year old, has been very sick and would like some toys. Perhaps some kind reader has some to send him. MRS. E. L.

Wants Playthings

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a little girl ten years old. I have seven sisters and brothers. We all go to school except one little sister, three and one else because she cannot. I wonder if some little girl has a doll and carriage to give her so she would have something to play with while we are in school? She would be so happy. My papa cannot afford to get her these things, as he has been out of work sick with heart trouble. I also would like a kewpie doll if someone has one they don't want. I have nothing to play with, and all the other little girls have dolls. Do try, dear Editor, to get us these things. LITTLE MARGARET.

LIFE DETERMINED BY ITS FEELINGS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

FEELING is about all there is to life.

Life is determined by its feelings and some of us are willing to die for feeling.

The common fallacy is that certain lives are emotionless. People take up all sorts of stunts to get a thrill. The thrill comes anyway.

It is necessary, with emotions, to consider the cause and effect. The emotions are not cause, they are effect; they are a symptom. They are caused by our mode of life. If a man will go ahead and do his duty, the proper emotions will come to him.

Emotions run in ruts like all other things. They are the creatures of habit. People think they cannot write, or compose music, without an inspiration. The best examples of creative genius show us that inspiration comes as a result of custom.

Get used to doing a certain thing at a certain time every day and the emotion will come.

Some people are emotion hounds. They are always seeking some new sensation. They are apt to fritter themselves away, because the best kind of emotions follow action and do not precede it.

An emotion is useless unless it leads to some kind of activity. There are people who indulge in emotions, but never translate them into work. Emotions are given us in order to enable us to transform them into deeds, and those who do not transform them, waste them.

The emotions have their police force, which are the inhibitions. Where these are weak in a person he is apt to become a criminal of some sort, and as they are strong, he behaves himself.

FIGHTING OLD AGE THROUGH GLANDS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

DR. RAOUL BAUDET, surgeon-in-chief at the Bichat Hospital in Paris, has made some plain and useful statements about the results and the possibilities of the attack now being made on old age and senile decay by way of the endocrine and other glands.

He does not deny that almost magical consequences often follow the employment of the gland treatment, both by "grafting" and by injection, but he throws a little, perhaps needed, "cold water" on the popular belief that medical science is now able to turn back the hands on the dial of human life.

"In very particular, but relatively frequent, cases," he says, "opotherapy and grafting have given marvelous results, with both animals and man, results so clear, so striking, so peremptory that one has been able to apply to them the term rajeunissement (growing young again). But this word, alas! it must be understood, is only an image, a beautiful image.

"Opotherapy and grafting do away with certain vexatious troubles of old age, certain bodily fatigues of the brain and of the heart—which is admirable. But to pretend that in going to a man of sixty-five all the vigor that one possesses at forty these treatments are going to prolong his life by twenty-five years, and enable him to commence a new existence—who of you will believe that?

"Undoubtedly the new medications may happily replace some deficient organ, whose functioning has been suspended by premature ageing; but to affirm that in effacing a little of the rust of senility they can also retard the approach of death is to push a little too far the enthusiasm for these new sciences, which are so full of promise for the future."

Dr. Baudet particularizes with reference to the cases in which the new treatment may produce excellent results. They belong to what he calls "partial old age" (vieillesses partielles). "By that I mean that with certain old persons the greater part of their organs have remained young, while certain endocrinal glands have given way and provoked the common signs of senility because these things are observed especially too, among the young old, the premature old, about the sixtieth year, for example."

These particular cases are distinguished from those of "total old age," in which nearly all the organs are altered, or have had their power of functioning diminished.

Total old age, says Dr. Baudet, is not the result merely of insufficience of the endocrine glands, but is produced by a slow and simultaneous intoxication of all the organs, endocrinian or other. This "fatal march of old age," he thinks, cannot be arrested by the new treatments, which though they may ameliorate the senile state, are unable to put an end to it.

However, while uttering these cautions, the doctor quotes—though with the skepticism to be expected from his other statements—the more optimistic views of the Rumanian savants, Parhon and Kahane, who say:

As to the question whether old age is theoretically curable, we are of the opinion that nothing, at present, authorizes a negative response.

(That, remarks Dr. Baudet, is the same as saying that old age can be avoided).

"On the contrary," continue the Rumanian doctors, "certain facts tend to prove the possibility for the cells, and even for organisms differentiated and ascribed at a certain stage of their evolution, to go back, so to speak, up the current of that evolution."

(Which means to say, notes Dr. Baudet, that they can grow young again, and of that he would be willing to be convinced.

It is a fascinating subject, even for young people, for they know that their turn to grow old is inevitably coming, and in such a matter it is never too soon to begin to learn.

Perhaps the strongest argument on the optimistic is that which runs as follows: Certain metazoans live indefinitely if from time to time the liquid in which they are cultivated is changed, thereby bringing new nutritive material to them, and getting rid of their waste products. Now, we, too, exist in a liquid medium, the blood and the lymph, from which our cells draw their aliment, but which they poison with their waste products. The glands supply the aliment, and if they fail we are now able artificially to renew the purity of the life fluid by getting rid, from time to time, of the waste. Then we may add up our proud heads with the humble metazoans and say: "We, too, are physically immortal!"

ONCE-OVERS

ARE YOU A MERE BOSS OR A FRIEND TO YOUR OFFICE BOY?

Do you ever have talks with the office boys in your place of business?

You order them about, usually in a commanding and surly manner, but do you know what they have in their minds?

You look upon your office boys as necessary evils, and let it go at that.

But you might do a whole lot in directing the course of your office boys in the right direction if you would take the trouble to know them better.

Why not get nearer their hearts and learn something about their ambitions and conditions?

Many of these little fellows are up against a hard row in life.

Handicapped because of lack of education and the mind training of other lads who are attending school, they know that they will have many competitors.

The boy who is not educationally well equipped to be

He needs advice and encouragement from you.

If he sees that you are taking an interest and are setting certain standards which you tell him you hope he will fulfil, the chances are that he will not disappoint you.

Try to do the deserving lads a good turn.
